COUNCIL GROUP ATTACKS ANEW STREET ISSUE

Committee Recommends Improvement Plan Be Submitted

$100,000 IS FIGURE INVOLVED IN PROGRAM

By ROBERT E. HOYER
(Mercury Staff Writer)

A new attack on Pottstown's broken street dilemma was uncovered last night.

Council's highway-sewer committee recommended a $100,000-plus street improvement program be submitted to finance committee for study.

The recommendation is the result of defeat for the $750,000 bond issue which was scuttled by the electorate at the Nov. 4 election.

Borough voters poured council dreams down the drain by a 4840 to 4385 count. Three of the 10 wards voted for the issue.

THE PUBLIC defeated a $450,000 bond issue at the Nov. 1951 election.

Committeemen voted 5 to 1 to recommend a street program in excess of $100,000.

J. Wayne Knause, Seventh ward chairman of finance committee, proposed the program. He first mentioned the plan on Nov. 5, one day after election.

He voted for the recommendation along with Tenth ward Highway Chairman Paul Marshall; Wilbert O'Dell, Eighth ward; George P. Ruyak, Second ward and Stanley Zawaski, Fourth ward.

Paul P. Kohler, Second ward, was the lone dissenting voice.

Knause explained his plan, "After the bond issue was defeated I contacted Horace (Borough Manager Horace B. Gulden) and asked him about the borough borrowing capacity. He tells me councilmanic borrowing capacity is $140,000.

"Although I was accused of trying to cram the bond issue down some people's throats, I know some

Sewer Assessment Issue Is Trouble For Councilmen

The basis of assessing property owners for storm sewers was chewed and mauled by council's highway - sewer committee last night.

Committeemen wrangled over interpretation of the ordinance pertaining to assessment.

The debate continued outside council chambers as Republican Paul Marshall, Tenth ward, and Paul P. Kohler, Second ward, shouted and gesticulated at close quarters.

Before they left borough hall the pair cooled their tempers and kidded about the issue. Both were red-faced and angry as they descended the steps from council

Woman Reports Wallet Stolen in Hospital Lobby

A Sanatoga woman reported to Pottstown police yesterday afternoon that someone had stolen a $5 bill and a wallet containing important cards and $1 in change from her purse in Pottstown hospital lobby.

Mrs. Irving O. Mahr Jr., Green Lane road, told Desk Sgt. Irvin K. Frederick she discovered the theft at 2:45 p. m., an hour and 45 minutes after she had left the purse hanging on a chair in the lobby.

She and her daughter, Patricia, had gone to another part of the hospital at 1 o'clock, she said.

Mrs. Mahr said the $5 bill was removed from a small pocket in the purse. The wallet, black and zippered closed, contained her driver's license and other cards, she said.

Bobby Walters Enjoys Early Christmas Party

Because Bobby Walters may not live long enough to see another Christmas, Christmas came to him yesterday complete with Santa Claus, a tree and toys.

Although still in critical condition, the 4-year-old Green Lane RD 1 cancer and polio victim felt well enough to be placed in a wheel chair to attend the premature holiday party arranged by The Mercury and held for him in his cubicle at the Sacred Heart hospital in Norristown.

Visiting parents and nurses watched with tears in their eyes as Bobby uttered the few words of delight that have escaped his lips since it was discovered the past Sunday that the cancer had penetrated his brain, leaving him very little time to live.

"Look, Christmas tree," was the first thing Bobby said with a surprised smile lighting his wan little face as he was wheeled into his cubicle by Marjorie Van Horn, National Polio foundation nurse who has been giving the boy treatments for his paralysis.

BUT THE tree was only the first surprise in store for Bobby. Clinton H. Miller, 371 Beech street, Pottstown insurance man and former Tenth ward councilman, stepped out from behind a curtain to evoke a wide-eyed look from Bobby.

Then came the presents from Santa's sack, which Miller gave the boy accompanied by laughter and kind words. These included an autographed baseball from Pottstown's own Bobby Shantz who brought it into The Mercury office expressly for Bobby the past week; a music box; a toy fire engine and a large Santa Claus doll donated by a Mercury reader.

Then, continuing with his part as Santa Claus, Miller distributed gifts to four other children in the polio ward, Loretta and John Lee, Sixth avenue and Green streets, Royersford; Keemer Moyer Jr., of Congo, and Raymond Grak, of Bristol.

When asked to don the Santa Claus costume for Bobby yester-

Christmas Joy Enters Bobby's Pain-Wracked Life

State Plans to Build Three Bridges When Work on New Route 100 Begins

The new section of Route 100 in Pottstown will have three bridges, rather than the originally-planned one bridge, to span the Schuylkill river and the Pennsylvania and Reading company railroad tracks.

This was a highlight of the report made to 22 members of the Schuylkill bridge committee by its chairman, William F. Lamb Sr., at a noon meeting in the Shulei house.

Lamb outlined the incomplete route of the relocation, which will run 2½ miles south of the Schuylkill and 1½ miles north of it. The State's preliminary planning of the northern half has not been completed.

The committee, which includes representatives of both Chester and Montgomery counties, was formed in April of 1949 when a new bridge was proposed to replace the antiquated South Hanover street bridge.

THIS PROPOSAL has been incorporated into the State Highway department's overall plans for relocating Route 100. State engineers announced the past month that surveying work north of King street will take several more months to complete.

Other steps that will have to be taken before work can start include getting the appropriation from the State Legislature and drawing final plans.

The re-located highway will diverge from the present Route 100 at the property of Harry Neiman, south of North Coventry school, Lamb asserted.

The new highway will cut northwestward behind the school. There will be a grade crossing at Cedarville road, in addition to an overpass at Harmonyville road and an over-pass interchange with Route 100.

The highway then will move on a straight line to the Schuyl-

Churchwoman, 76, In Critical Condition As Result of Stroke

Mrs. Charles H. Shomo, 107 West Walnut street, 76-year-old church leader who is known to hundreds of people in Stowe and Pottstown as "Aunt Tillie," was critically ill at her home late last night.

Members of her family have been at her bedside almost constantly since the past Nov. 17 when she suffered a stroke while she was recovering in bed from a heart attack that had kept her in Memorial hospital from Oct. 30 to Nov. 11.

Her entire right side has become paralyzed and she has periods of semi-consciousness.

Because of her illness, a church supper scheduled for the past Saturday in St. Paul's Reformed church, Stowe, has been postponed indefinitely. The Rev. Paul C. Scheirer, pastor, has visited her daily.

FOR MANY years, she had been a leader in that church and its women's organizations. She also is a former officer of West End Fire company's auxiliary. Her husband is a charter member of that organization. Their home is just east of the Stowe boundary.

Mr. and Mrs. Shomo celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary the past Oct. 22.

Red Cross Seeking More Blood Donors As Deadline Nears

Only 15 out of the needed 185 potential donors have signed up to give blood when the American Red Cross bloodmobile visits Pottstown Dec. 2.

"This is the lowest number of people we ever had," said Mary Ann Mills, secretary of the local branch of the Red Cross, adding that unless the minimum of donors are signed up in the remaining week, the bloodmobile's visit will have to be canceled.

"This would be the first time in our history that we will have done that, but the bloodmobile has to go where they can get blood," she said.

The secretary said that the 185 minimum is to assure at least 150 pints of blood.

SHE ALSO said that since the Red Cross has assumed the responsibility of supplying all the blood needs for Bobby Walters, the 4-

'Scotch' Burglar Gets $52, Bottle; Ignores Safe at Moose Home

A burglar who apparently is fussy about liquor struck again early yesterday—this time at the barroom of the Pottstown Moose home, 320 High street.

He got $52 from cash drawers in the barroom. He also searched through cabinets in the barroom but took only one bottle, a bottle of high-priced Scotch whisky.

This pattern was similar to that of the person who burglarized Riverside hotel, 205 South Hanover street, South Pottstown, the past Nov. 11. Between $65 and $70 in change was taken from the barroom. Only two bottles were taken, both of highpriced liquor, one of them Scotch.

This South Pottstown burglary was the first of three. The second was discovered the next day.

Pottstown Hospital Seeks OK of Plans

Final approval of the $2,000,000 building project will be sought from State officials by members of the Pottstown hospital building committee this week, A. C. Seawell, administrator, announced last night.

Seawell said that he and the committee under Edward L. Gruber will meet with Ira Mills, chief of the Bureau of Homes and Hospitals for Pennsylvania, in Harrisburg for the official go-ahead which will enable bidding on the specifications to start early next week.

Seawell explained that Mills' approval of the final plans was necessary because under the building program, the Federal government is financing 40 percent of the total cost of the project.

The administrator also reported that ground-breaking date and ceremonies have been left in the hands of the building committee and will be announced as soon as bidding has been opened. He added, however, that it is expected actual construction will start in January.

THE PROJECT will include the tearing down of the old hospital building and equipping of a completely new south wing and the construction of a new nurses' home and school.

The hospital board of directors, who met last night, acknowledged the receipt of $10,360 from the Senior auxiliary. Seawell said this was the third such payment on the organization's pledge for the building fund.

The auxiliary agreed to under-

Ceremony at Post Office Will Signal Lighting of Borough Yule Decorations

A brief ceremony at the Pottstown post office tonight at 7:30 o'clock will precede the throwing of the switch to turn on current for the Christmas decorations in the borough's business district.

Short talks will be given by the Rev. John B. Frantz, pastor of Trinity Reformed church; Burgess William A. Griffith; and Mrs. John A. Barlow, president of the Pottstown Century club.

The ceremony and the lighting of more than 2000 red green and blue Christmas lights in the business district will mark the opening of the borough's Christmas season.

Carol will be sung by the Meistersingers, borough choral group, at the occasion.

GEORGE A. LESSIG, chairman of the committee planning tonight's festivities, recalled that in spite of "bitter cold weather in 1951, there were more than 1000 persons present at the post office celebration." He said he expects a larger crowd this year, especially since the weather has become mild.

The Christmas decorations have been strung from Washington to Manatawny streets on High street and from King to Queen streets on Hanover street.

Speed Is Foremost In Newstip Calls For Mercury Prizes

Winners yesterday in The Mercury's weekly newstip contest showed speed in handling a wide range of unusual news reports.

First prize of $5 was won by Eugene Rudy, 312 Diamond street. County detectives and State liquor board agents had hardly completed their quick raid on a West High street cocktail lounge accused of staging lewd shows, when Rudy was calling The Mercury with a tip.

Mrs. Mary C. O'Dell, 270 High street, won second prize of $3 for an equally fast tip on the plight of the janitor in the Bahr arcade building who had been trapped in a freight elevator.

Third prize of $2 went to Mrs. Stanley Leh, Hill Church, Boyertown RD 1, whose husband saw a 12-foot hole open up before his eyes in a wheat field. Mrs. Leh called shortly after the hole had stopped opening.

A. EMERY LORD TO LEAVE POST AS COUNCILMAN

Eighth Ward Man Plans To Move to Home Outside Town

BUYS COLONIAL PROPERTY IN DOUGLASSVILLE AREA

A second member of Pottstown borough council will be giving up his seat shortly because he is moving from his ward, it was announced yesterday.

A. Emery Lord, Eighth ward councilman elected in 1949, is moving from his home at 853 Spruce street to the home along Route 83 near Douglassville of Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Munkasey.

The moving will be completed by Jan. 31, the date for final settlement of the purchase. Munkasey has been promoted from branch manager of Electrolux corporation's Berks-Schuylkill counties territory to branch manager of the larger Harrisburg territory.

The first councilman to announce recently he was stepping down was George P. Ruyak, 342 Cherry street, Third ward, who is resigning his seat because he is buying a home in the North End.

Lord is a Republican. Ruyak is a Democrat. Their seats will be filled through appointments by borough council.

Their resignations will be required by a law stating that councilmen must live in the wards they represent.

THE HOME that Mr. and Mrs. Lord are buying is a 20-room house of Pennsylvania stone that is believed to have been built originally for a Colonial iron master. The home's name is Witt-Brooke.

A title search showed that the main wing of the house dates back to at least 1783. A legal secretary once completed pages and pages of legal research on the home with the notation, in capitals and red ink: "For further details, see the Indians!"

Lord, who is 38, also is chairman of Pottstown's tax equalization

IKE APPOINTS TWO MORE TO CABINET POSTS

Benson Named to Head Agriculture; Adams Is President Aide

NEW YORK, Nov. 24 (AP)—Driving at top speed, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower chose Ezra Taft Benson of Utah as his secretary of agriculture today and then named Gov. Sherman Adams o New Hampshire as White House assistant in the new GOP administration. The president-elect thus moved with history-making swiftness to form the top echelon of his administration before going to Korea in an effort to find a key to peace in that unhappy land.

By giving Benson the nod to succeed President Truman's secretary of agriculture, Charles F. Brannan, Eisenhower carried out a campaign pledge to the nations farmers that he would bring farm leaders into government to help work out new farm programs while improving old ones.

Bensons appointment was the sixth cabinet post to be filled by Eisenhower in five days. He now has named his Secretaries of State (John Foster Dulles); Defense (Charles E. Wilson of Detroit); Treasury (George M. Humphrey of Cleveland); Interior (Gov. Douglas Mcay of Oregon); Agriculture(Benson); and his Attorney General (Herbert Brownell of New York city).

BENSON WAS the second man who favored nomination of Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, Eisenhower's chief GOP convention opponent, to be placed in the cabinet. The other was Humphrey.

The three cabinet posts remaining are secretaries of labor and commerce and postmaster general.

Benson is a 53-year-old Mormon church leader, youth leader, and farm marketing specialist who has worked with farmers and farm problems for years. He told reporters he never had met Eisenhower before today but was in agreement with his farm policy statements.

He served for eight years as an economist and State farm marketing specialist for the University of Idaho Extension service.

ALLIED TROOPS RECAPTURE TWO VITAL OUTPOSTS

War Begins 30th Month; Jackson Heights Area Scene of Fighting

SEOUL, Tuesday, Nov. 25 (AP)—Counterattacking Allied troops today recaptured two important outposts in the Jackson heights sector of the Korean central front as the conflict entered its 30th month.

The Eighth Army reported the outposts were yielded to the Reds last night in a new flare-up of fighting in that hotly disputed sector. The Chinese assault was described as "strong" but how many Communists were involved was not reported.

Fighting has erupted almost nightly in the Jackson heights area, but seldom results in any change in position. The Reds are strongly entrenched on the hill but the Allied outposts are on its southern slopes.

Allied warplanes carried on their campaign against Communist supply vehicles, bagging 85 last night. A Fifth Air Force spokesman said they brought the total to about 1250 destroyed in the past 10 days.

AT DAYBREAK 12 Superforts bombed three Communist troop concentrations and supply dumps within an 18-acre area at Hoechang, east of Pyongyang, the North Korean capital.

Pilots reported light to moderate anti-aircraft fire.

Indian Proposal for Peace Rejected By Russia; US Asks Drafting Changes

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Nov. 24 (AP)—Russia's Andrei Y. Vishinsky turned down today as "unsatisfactory and unacceptable" India's compromise plan for ending the Korean War. Secretary of State Acheson replied that the US regards the Indian proposal as "important and statesmanlike" but that there are some drafting changes needed before Washington can accept it completely.

In an obvious attempt to smooth over a serious rift with Britain and India over the much - debated proposal advanced by V. K. Krishna Menon, India, Acheson told the UN Political committee that there is a "wide area of agreement" on what needs to be done in Korea.

He outlined some points on which the US asked clarification and then said:

"We all want the same thing. If those difficulties are met, my Government will support the Indian resolution and will loyally and faithfully attempt to carry it out."

The Indian resolution was backed strongly by British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, who refused over the week-end to accept some changes asked by the US.

UN Diplomats Study Criminal Jurisdiction

TOKYO, Tuesday, Nov. 25 (AP)—Alarmed United Nations diplomats today studied a turn in the Japanese-British discussions of criminal jurisdiction over Allied troops that threatens the US-Japan administrative agreement.

Under that pact, which is up for re-negotiation next April 28, US troops off duty who commit crimes are handed over to US military authorities when they are arrested by Japanese police.

Britain's Commonwealth countries, the United Kingdom, Australia, New Zealand and Canada, want the same privileges.

Japan has refused, contending such a privilege given to Britain would mean a return to the 19th century extraterritoriality rights then held by foreign nations in Japan.

The discussions reportedly reached a hot stage the past week-end.

3 'Confess' to Profiteering for Israel In Czechoslovakia Communist Trials

VIENNA, Nov. 24 (AP)—A Prague court heard confessions today that the Jews among 14 Communists on trial made vast personal fortunes and financially cheated Czechoslovakia and the Soviet Union before they were arrested in an anti-Moscow conspiracy.

Three Jewish defendants, speaking in the same abject tone of self-denunciation that has marked the confessions of the other prisoners, testified that most of the commercial and financial profiteering was done for the benefit of Israel.

With such admissions, the trial of former Communist Boss Rudolf Slansky and his friends neared its end. Only two more defendants remain to be heard.

The anti-Semitic nature of the trial reached its peak during the day, even while Prague's Communist newspaper Rude Pravo was charging that the "Americans have turned Israel into a base of aggression against the peace camp and the enslaved Arab nations."

RUDE PRAVO'S editorial also charged that Slansky had helped Jews to flee from Czechoslovakia with "capitalist" property worth $12,000,000.

In Jersalem, Foreign Minister Moshe Sharett told the Israeli Knesset (Parliament) that the liberation of Czechoslovakia from Hitler's storm troopers is now "desecrated by this attempt to revive his spirit within her borders."

He expressed the fear of persecution of Jews in Czechoslovakia and neighboring countries as the trials "seek to provide justification in advance for any future acts."

Confessions of alleged economic misdealing for the gain of Jews in and outside of Czechoslovakia were made by Otto Fischl, former deputy finance minister; Rudolf Margolius, 39, and Evzen Loebl, 46, both former deputy ministers of foreign trade.

Father Is Subdued By Police; He and Son Put Up Barricade

CINCINNATI, Nov. 24 (AP) — A short, slight father was subdued by police in suburban Reading with the aid of his 15-year-old son this evening after he and the boy had barricaded themselves in the house for more than five hours.

The father, 45-year-old Owen Warfield, a World War II veteran, was apprehended by Reading police after his son, David Sherill, had disarmed him and allowed officers into the house.

The father and son, both heavily armed, had barricaded themselves in their home after sheriff's deputies tried to take Warfield into custody on assault and battery and lunacy warrants.

Both warrants reportedly were signed by his wife, Dora, from whom he had been separated.

Warfield, tears streaming down his bewhiskered cheeks, was taken to General hospital for mental observation. He kept muttering that he wanted to be home for Thanksgiving.

It was first reported that Warfield and his four sons were inside the house, but later reports said that David Sherill Warfield was the only one with his father.

Punishment Powers Assumed by Kenya

NAIROBI, Kenya, Nov. 24 (AP) — The Kenya Government tonight assumed powers to punish whole native communities in an effort to stamp out the anti-White Mau Mau society which gave this British East African colony its bloodiest weekend.

The secret society, sworn to drive the White man from Africa, is blamed for scores of murders and other outrages in the past few months. The weekend toll was at least 18 killed, all but one of them natives, and more than 30 natives wounded.

Among the slain was Cmdr. Ian H. Meiklejohn, a retired officer of the Royal Navy. He and his wife were attacked with knives by six Africans Saturday.

The commander, who tried to crawl upstairs for weapons to fight back after his stabbing, died today at a hospital. His wife, slashed and stabbed, was in critical condition.

Tighe Woods Resigns as Government Price Stabilizer; Calls Laws 'Weak'

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24 (AP)—Tighe Woods resigned as Government price stabilizer today, saying he would rather quit than try to administer a "weak" price controls law.

"I think the law needs a thorough overhauling," he told a news conference.

He said he had submitted his resignation to President Truman and asked that it become effective at the end of the month.

Woods, 42, has been price boss since Sept. 1 when he succeeded Ellis Arnall, former governor of Georgia. Before that he served as rent controller. Even if Woods had decided to stay on in the Office of Price Stabilization (OPS) he would have been subject to replacement by the incoming Eisenhower administration.

WOODS SAID he thought Congress would vote a new program of direct controls when the present law expires April 30. The present one was enacted the past Summer, several months before Woods took the OPS job.

"Congress should take out some of the special interest amendments and substitute for them some equality of sacrifice," he told his news conference. 'I hope the Congress members will look at it from all sides so that everyone would share an equal burden."

One special interest provision in the law, Woods said, is the Harrison amendment exempting fruits and vegetables from price control. This amendment became effective the past July 1.

Yoshida told the Japanese Diet (Parliament) he believes Japan should build defensive forces only in proportion to an increase in the nation's material and moral strength.

Seoul Starts Vigil of Excitement for Eisenhower's Arrival

SEOUL, Tuesday, Nov. 25 (AP) — This war battered city of kings and conquerors began an excitement-packed vigil today for the arrival of President-Elect Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Twice occupied by the Communists and twice liberated by the Allies within the recent memory of nearly all its 800,000 citizens, this ancient capital of Korea seemed to pin its hopes for the future on the impression it made on the new American chief executive.

Anticipation ran so high that authorities approved a mass demonstration on the capitol grounds for Thanksgiving Day or the day following—whether Eisenhower is present or not. Some 20,000 school children will parade tomorrow in a warm-up demonstration.

No one knew for certain just when he would arrive because a news blackout will be imposed on his trip, but nothing was being left to chance.

DESPITE A DRIZZLING RAIN, South Korean security troops and mounted police already lined both sides of the highway leading from Kimpo airport to the capital. Other guards ringed President Syngman Rhee's hillside home. A tight police alert prevailed throughout the city to guard against any Communist-inspired demonstration or assassination attempt. A routing air raid blackout was held during the night.

Gen. Mark Clark, top Allied commander, flew in from Tokyo Monday to check with Gen. James A. Van Fleet, US Eighth Army commander, on final security arrangements for the president-designate's visit.

A news blackout will mantle all his movements while in Korea, including tours of Army, Navy and Air Force units.

Hiss' Freedom Bid Rejected by Board

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24 (AP)—The Federal Parole board today voted unanimously to reject Alger Hiss' bid for freedom.

The board ruled that Hiss, 48-year-old former State department official, must remain behind prison bars until he completes his five-year sentence or until the board may decide to review his case favorably sometime in the indefinite future.

Board Chairman Dr. George C. Killinger said the board reached its decision "after a careful consideration of the official record."

Bill Green Buried In Coshocton; Was Leader of 8 Million

COSHOCTON, O., Nov. 24 (AP) — Coshocton today buried Bill Green—citizen, friend, miner and leader of eight million American workers.

To the world he was William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor and champion of the rights of the men who produce the world's goods with their labor.

To this eastern Ohio mining and lithographing center, he was Bill Green, the Welsh coal-digger who rose from the pits to friendship with the mighty, and never left his home town in spirit or residence.

So, Coshocton turned out.

The common people were there, many of them fresh from coal pits like those Bill Green entered 70 years ago. And, so were the leaders presidents of AFL unions and high labor officials.

They jammed Grade Methodist church, where funeral services were held three days after a heart ailment caused the death of the AFL's second president in his red brick home near the center of Coshocton. He was 82.

Pottstown's Prides

Another in the series of beautiful homes that make Pottstown warm

—Mercury Staff Photo

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar C. Arndt apparently are satisfied with his work as a Pottstown contractor, for they have been living in this house at 40 West Sixth street ever since he built it 22 years ago. It has an office and six bedrooms, all of which were needed when it was built because all six of their children were living at home then (three are living at home now). Downstairs is a living room (at left), 11 by 23 feet; dining room, kitchen and the office. Four of the bedrooms are on the second floor. Behind the house is a three-car garage, as well as a lawn. The white paint outside is new, but all of the brickwork at front (it's dark red with dark mortar) has been virtually untouched over the years. Inside features of the house included solid chestnut woodwork, in natural finish. The wrought iron railing for the front steps was added this year. That's Mrs. Arndt out front, sweeping up leaves from the beech trees.

Investigation Slated For Sanitary Sewer

The cause of a sanitary sewer in the North End backing up possibly as a result of the heavy rains the past week will be investigated, Horace B. Gulden, borough manager reported yesterday.

He said the only complaint of sewer trouble connected with the storm came yesterday morning from residents in the Pine and Mineral streets area.

"It may have been caused by the rains and then again it might be a local condition due to a broken pipe," Gulden said, adding that repair crews will "rod" the sewer and explore it with special tools to determine the trouble.

The borough manager also reported that the firm of Albright and Friel, incorporated, Philadelphia engineers who designed Pottstown's new sewage disposal plant, is studying the problem of how to relieve large flows during heavy rains.

None Injured When Train Hits Dirt Slide

PARKESBURG, Nov. 24 (AP)—A New York to Pittsburgh Pennsylvania railroad train hit a rock and dirt slide while traveling at 50 miles an hour yesterday on the main line, about three miles west of here.

The engine and the first car, a mail car, were damaged but not derailed, the railroad said today. No injuries were reported among the passengers or train crew of the 14 car Metropolitan, the railroad said.

A Maintenance crew removed the damaged engine and car. East and westbound traffic were not tied up because there are four tracks through this stretch.

Group Honors Truman For Civil Rights Action

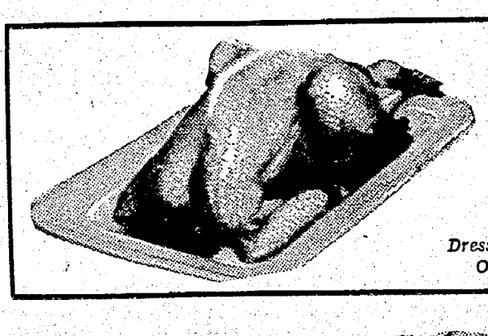

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24 (AP)—A delegation from Omega Psi Phi, a nationwide Negro fraternity, saluted President Truman today as "Mr. Civil Rights" and gave him a scroll commending his "forthright and unswering" activity to wipe out race discrimination.

The delegation told the President that "after the tumult and the shouting of this era have ended, history will acknowledge your greatest contribution was the reawakening of this generation's consciousness to the gap between our stated ideals and our day-to-day practices."

Hang sorrow; care will kill a cat, and therefore let's be merry.—George Wither.

TB Incidence Rises

POTTSTOWN may have been shocked by a news story in The Mercury Saturday, saying that the number of tuberculosis cases in this area had increased substantially.

The rise, despite greater emphasis on chest examinations, is particularly marked among older persons.

This is sad news, because many a Pottstonian, particularly engrossed possibly sidetracked in his thinking because of the preponderance of publicity on cancer, heart disease and polio, thought TB was licked.

But unfortunately not even the miracle drugs have eliminated TB.

The nearest to a miracle remain the familiar stamps and pins, which finance detection of the illness by X-ray examination, rehabilitation of those suffering from it, research into more and more effective methods of combating it, and education of the people in alertness to deal with TB.

Humanitarianism is only one of several good reasons why everyone who can afford as much as a dollar or two should aid in these efforts.

But it is a strong one, for thanks to progress in the past half century many Pottstonians are living today who would have died of tuberculosis the past year if deaths had been as numerous in 1907, the first year American Christmas seals were sold.

Still, in this community and county, many tubercular persons are being aided by the Family Welfare, the Visiting Nurse association and the State TB-detection clinic at the Pottstown hospital.

Eighty-five percent of the money raised by the sale of seals and pins will go to combat tuberculosis in Pottstown where the money came from, and the rest will go to the national tuberculosis association.

The candle on the Christmas seal is a light of hope to the ill looking to become well—and to the well looking to remain so.

Unnecessary Floods Again

TRAFFIC through Pottstown on a busy Saturday was slowed by unnecessary flood-again the past week.

The Colebrookdale bridge area was closed off to traffic, and motorists were forced to detour over torturous King street. That rutted road caused many a headache, and caused strange motorists to lose their ways.

The flooding of that notorious area, as well as the sad flooding of the Manatawny park baseball diamond once more, is so unnecessary. Time and time again, Pottstown has been told dredging of the Manatawny, or widening of the mouth at the Schuylkill, might end such floods.

The floods are caused when the Schuylkill is unable to take care of the Manatawny's waters. Or when the Manatawny is unable to spill its waters because of a high Schuylkill. Then the water backs, and floods the lowlands.

Just a few years ago, at the behest of The Mercury, a State engineer came here to investigate local flooding. He said the dredged Schuylkill could carry off the Manatawny's waters only if that stream were cleared of debris from its channel.

Pottstown borough has been urged for years to dredge the Manatawny. to beautify its banks Yet nothing is done. And every year more and more is spent on the Manatawny park, only to have it flooded when a few inches of rain fall.

It's penny wise and pound foolish. It would be better if a dredging program were evolved.

Dear Sir 'n' Brother:

Wal, I see by the papers where an irate western housewife poured boiling water on her husband. After that, he was all steamed up!

A Michigan hunter reported his 26-foot house trailer had suddenly disappeared. My guess is that some other hunter mistook it for a deer, shot and skinned it!

And say: I actually bought a hamburger for ten cents yesterday. The meat patty was as big as a dime!

Reader Has High Hopes For Speed Traps

Don't Show Favoritism

To the Editor: I hope the speed traps on West High, East High and North Charlotte streets will provide the answer to speeding in the borough, an answer to the numerous annual accidents in Pottstown.

I think they could do a lot of good if they are properly administered. There can be no catering to the select. If a man is stopped for roaring through the trap and police have the goods on him, then he should be prosecuted.

There's no reason why a speed trap cannot halt the raceway conditions on certain borough streets.

Some men are opposed to speed traps because they say it will give the borough a bad reputation.

I'm for speed traps because I think it will give the borough a good reputation. Of course, I'm not basing the borough reputation on commercialism. I'm thinking about safety and not patron dollars.

Personally, anyone who is opposed to a speed trap is just being very political about the matter. Speed traps have proven effective in many other boroughs and cities. They can do the job in Pottstown.

I hope police will not fail.
North End SENSIBLE DRIVER

Traps Needed at Night

To the Editor: Speed traps should undoubtedly cut down the accident rate in Pottstown but they will not be performing the service expected by Pottstonians.

I understand they will not be operated 24 hours a day. They will be enforced only during the daylight hours and the early evening.

By checking the time of the recent fatal accidents, it can be seen that the traps are most needed late at night and in the early hours of the morning.

During the time the borough intends to put them in force, traffic is generally slow enough that they will not be needed. During the daylight hours there is usually so much traffic that a motorist cannot speed even if he wanted to.

The murderous hours around midnight is the time traps are needed to help prevent more fatal accidents in the vicinity.

North Charlotte street CRITIC

Referendum Was Useless

To the Editor: I guess the furor of the street bond issue has dissipated. At least I haven't heard much more about it since the past election.

It was a useless cause to put it before the voters then. In 1951 it was turned down when not as much money was asked to build new streets so I don't think many people had any hopes for it going through this time. It just made for a little extra work for the ballot counters.

Personally, I don't see why the issue had to be put before the voters in the first place. If the borough wants to build a street because it is necessary to maintain thoroughfares, they should go ahead and build it.

The property owner has no right to object to it. He should be assessed yearly on the basis that his property is more valuable because of a good street leading to his home.

That's the only way to build streets. The interest of the borough should come before the likes and dislikes of the individual.

A street bond referendum vote may seem like a fair means of deciding whether the public wants to rebuild streets but in reality it is not.

Many people who mark Xs on ballots don't know which way to vote and as soon as they see dollars on a referendum they vote "no" because they fear they will have to pay more taxes.

That is why I say that money issues cannot honestly be voted on in a referendum election. More times than not they will be turned down.

WASHINGTON

US Industrial Welfare Demands Changes in FTC

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24—The Truman Administration's persistent policy of harassing and bulldozing private business and industry can be reversed after Jan. 20 by the simple process of reorganizing an agency with a great capacity for creating economic anxiety and uncertainty—namely, the Federal Trade Commission.

It is this Truman-packed body which now clamps a heavy hand on the nation's economic operations at home and abroad, including the current anti-trust suit against seven American oil firms with investments in the turbulent Middle East.

Besides giving the commission new and broader power than it ever exercised in the past, Truman has used it for purposes of political gain and reprisal.

The Eisenhower victory has already dampened the enthusiasm of FTC's membership for aggressive, anti-business tactics, as is has done in almost every agency of the government.

From Truman down to office boys, officials are marking time, especially the young, noisy, ebullient lawyers so-frequently responsible for initiating questionable litigations and investigations.

NOWHERE IS this "keep your head down" spirit of caution more noticeable than in FTC and the Department of Justice, which carries FTC's complaints into the grand jury rooms and the courts.

But the incoming President will be able to reform FTC within a short time after he takes office, and presumably along more conservative lines. Indeed, he will be able to halt several punitive actions which Attorney General McGranery initiated during the recent campaign under White House and FTC inspiration and insistence.

Truman showed his disregard for the law establishing FTC, as well as his anti-business prejudice, when he filled a vacancy last summer with the appointment of John Carson. Although the statute provides that only three members of either major party shall sit on the commission at the time, Carson was named because of his demonstrated sympathy for the White House program.

Truman violated the spirit of the law by describing Carson as an "Independent." But the fact was that, as former secretary to Senator Couzens of Michigan and a lobbyist for farm cooperatives at Washington, Carson had been an ardent and active supporter of Roosevelt-Truman philosophy for 20 years.

THE SENATE refused to confirm him for these reasons, giving Eisenhower a vacancy to be filled immediately. Lowell B. Mason, the GOP member, has been bitterly critical of his colleagues, and his term does not expire until Sept. 25, 1956. A Republican majority will become a reality next September, with the end of Commissioner Stephen Spingarn's term.

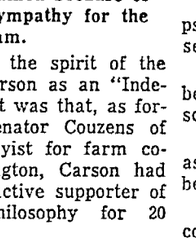

It is also possible that James M. Mead, a Buffalo Democrat and former Senator, may quit. He has frequently been mentioned as a possible candidate for Governor of New York or for his old post on Capitol Hill.

The need for an FTC reorganization was evidenced most spectacularly by its compaign publication of its inquiry into the inactivities of the seven petroleum corporations, and the Department of Justice's subsequent anti-trust action against these companies.

As Secretaries Acheson and Lovett have advised privately, this vote-getting proceeding jeopardizes national defense and foreign relations in an area susceptible to Communist conquest or infiltration—Iran, Iraq, Arabia.

CLOSE FRIENDS understand Robert Taylor is ready to embark on his next marriage. The girl, beautiful Ursula Theiss; the date, January . . . Marlene Dietrich is considering seriously an appearance before Broadway legit audiences next season. She has read a play in postwar Germany, and is enthusiastic about it.

Harry Truman

That Greek shipping magnate, pal of Mickey Jelke, is tossing Park Avenue parties again . . . Three local airline offices were robbed last week without a paragraph in the papers. One safe-cracker's take was $36,000 . . . Dr. Ralph Bunche becoming a panel member on a video show? . . . Scott Brady's brief romance with the ex-Mrs. Cornel Wilde (Pat Knight) ended in a shower of champagne.

Singer Margaret Whiting and her groom, Lou Busch, are on the verge of an unhappy ending . . . Insiders say Eleanor Roosevelt guessed right: Ike will not reappoint her to her UN post . . . The Marlyn Monroe-Joe DiMaggio idyll is still an item. Look at the snappy cufflinks and tie clip she gave him for his birthday.

Women may be the high speed jet test pilots of the future. Recent Navy experiments showed that female rats were far better able to stand the pressure of centrifugal force than the boys . . . Good bet: Mona Freeman and Pat Nerney to reconcile before the holidays. They're thinking of the children . . . Coleen Gray's necklines in Paris have Frenchmen gawking and Parisian newspapers publishing her pictures with oo-la-la captions.

ADD JOBS Harry Truman may be in line for: the post of heading the new labor amalgamation if the AFL and CIO decide to merge . . . Playwright Ed Chodorov is dating Jane Kean . . . Subscription television, which has been kicking around rather aimlessly for the past few years, is due to become a big item on the nation's entertainment menu next year. Legitimate theater owners at last have been persuaded to sell the rights to the televising of hit shows, on closed circuits in the manner of the successful experiments with closed circuit screenings of prize-fights.

June Haver's singing voice in "The Girl Next Door" is Beryl Davis . . . Jim Glennon, the pub keeper with wanderlust, started out for the Virgin Islands the other afternoon, missed his plane and settled for—of all switches—Boston.

Marlon Brando gave the hipsters at Birdland something to gape at when he attended the Duke Ellington opening. The kid with the T-shirt reputation glided in wearing a $300 tailor-made . . . Art Mooney is wooing Leila Martin, of "Wish You Were Here" . . . Beatrice Lillie has become a big ice hockey fan. You can find her at Madison Square Garden every Sunday night, yelling her regal little head off.

Narcotics investigators have a new avenue for their gumshoeing. They've forsaken the musicians' haunts to check on hoofers. In three months, eight dancing teams have been split by dope raps . . . Miss Monroe and Miss Russell have competition in "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes." A former Copacabana cutie named Donna Lee Hickey is liable to steal the wolf whistles.

DAGMAR'S BIRTHDAY present to her husband, Danny Dayton, is something to flip over: a giant coffee table with radio and phonograph built in. (You haven't lived until a coffee table starts singing to you!) . . . The vice investigation is spreading to California, but with a new wrinkle: the sleuths are telephoning girl suspects and casually offering as high as $1000 for a date. Should be breaking in the papers soon.

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

OPAL M., 33, is to teach educational psychology at a Midwestern college next semester.

"Dr. Crane, most of my students will be girls who expect to teach in rural schools," she said.

"The educational psychology course as taught here in previous years, has not been very practical.

"I am now at teaching this particular course, so I shall welcome ideas and suggestions.

"The former professor spent 8 weeks on statistics, but that seems to me like too much time.

"What should I stress to these girls who will be teaching children in rural schools?"

I agreed with Opal that 8 weeks of statistics was an unwarranted expenditure of time for girls who are soon to teach in rural schools. One week should be ample on that minor technical aspect of pedagogy.

Opal's college students will be dealing with youngsters from farm homes where reading materials are often deficient.

MANY OF these rural parents will not even know how to coach their children effectively in their home work.

Since reading is the most important subject in the grammar school curriculum, I urged that these college women be taught all the modern devices for encouraging youngsters to read.

And I especially advised the use of flash cards for both printed words and arithmetical combinations.

Since many of these rural school boards will not spend the money to purchase dictionaries, seat-work units, flash cards and other modern devices for speeding up reading or making school subjects most interesting then these future teachers should learn how to develop such materials at a minimum cost.

IF THE teacher can invite the parents of her children to a few Parent-Teacher meetings, and show them how to use flashcards in their homes, then she has done a great service to her pupils.

He played small parts in films at first under the name of Bryant Fleming, and had his first important part in "Gay Sisters" in 1942. In World War II he served in Army artillery, and since then his pictures include "Dive Bomber," "Navy Blues," "One Foot in Heaven," "They Died With Their Boots On," "Male Animal," "Escape Me Never." His latest are "Woman in White,' "Wake of the Red Witch," "Three Musketeers," "Lust for Gold," "Tell It to the Judge," "Target Unknown," "Days Before Lent." What's his name?

2. This naturalist and author was born in Dunbar, Scotland, on April 21, 1838. His youthful days there and in Wisconsin are delightfully told in his "Story of My Boyhood and Youth," published in 1913. After leaving the University of Wisconsin, an accident made him fear his eye was "closed forever to all God's beauty," which caused him to start on a long series of rambles described in "A Thousand-Mile Walk to the Gulf," "My First Summer in the Sierra," "The Cruise of the Corwin" and "Sheep Trails." To his efforts are largely due the establishment of the Yosemite and other areas as national parks, and, to some extent, to U. S. national conservation policy. He died in Los Angeles on Dec. 24, 1914. Who was he?

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

DOCTORS TODAY are not so ready to remove the teeth or tonsils to cure diseases in some other part of the body. With newer drugs and dental methods, they prefer to try to cure the infection and save the tooth when possible.

I am sure you know of people who had teeth extracted to relieve their rheumatism—or perhaps it was kidney trouble or some other disease. Perhaps they told you they felt much better afterwards, and were sure that their troubles all came from their infected teeth.

Not many years ago a number of doctors were also convinced of this—that infected teeth poured germs and poisons into the system, causing disease in different parts of the body. This was called focal infection. The tonsils, appendix, or gallbladder were thought to be other possible infection centers.

It was even common to remove the teeth or tonsils in certain cases when no other cause of the disease could be found. In some of these diseases the real cause was unknown, but the treatment was thought to remove the possibility of focal infection.

The teeth and tonsils were the foci most often removed, perhaps because they were the easiest to get to, and would not be missed too much in these days of false teeth.

More recently, doctors have been impressed by the lack of real proof that a local infection can cause a systemic disease. The germs responsible for a number of these diseases are unknown.

More careful studies have also shown that many people suffering from systemic diseases continue to suffer even after the teeth or tonsils are removed. Occasionally, patients do improve, but the beneficial effects seem to be outweighed by the fact that many do not show any change at all, while others show harmful effect.

Many times a suspected focus of infection, such as infected gums, clears up after the person is cured of his disease. Or perhaps improved hygiene and cleanliness and a more nourishing diet may improve his general health and clear up the mouth infection.

Sergeant Charged With Data Conspiracy

TOKYO, Tuesday, Nov. 25 (AP) — The Far East Air Forces today charged Staff Sgt. Guiseppe Cascio, 34, Tucson, Ariz., with conspiring to sell secret flight test data on the top US jet warplane in the Korean theater.

The secret data involved performance tests of the F-86 Sabre jet, scourge of the Communist MIG-15 jets.

The air forces charge said Cascio "did wrongfully offer for sale to unauthorized persons" the secret flight test data, "with reason to believe that said writing would reach the enemy."

Possibly the secret data involved performance tests of improved models which have been credited with giving US jet airmen a bigger edge over the Communist MIGs. American jet airmen, by Air Force count, have run up an 8-1 score over Communist fliers in jet planes shot down.

kill, crossing over the Pottstown Landing road, where that road now has a right-angle bend near the Landing.

The first bridge, 617 feet long, will jump the Schuylkill from this bend to the cinder bank on the Montgomery county side. The cinder bank will be filled in for approximately 800 feet.

AFTER THIS, there will be a second small bridge over the Pennsylvania tracks; a filled-in stretch of nearly 500 feet, and then a 300-foot bridge over the Reading tracks and over West High street.

The highway will slope down to the West King street level and the clover leaf there Lamb reported.

While engineering plans for the stretch north of King street are not complete, Lamb said, it is expected the re-located highway will run southeast of Robinson Clay works and will end at State road, near Freese's Heights.

The route will not interfere with Pottsgrove manor, the committee chairman reported.

He added that there may be a delay in final plans for the southern half of the route because it has been discovered that a Reading surgeon has started building a house directly in line with the proposed route. A sub-committee was named to try to prevent any more such building.

State engineers plan to rearrange the route to avoid this house, Lamb added.

The committee's full name is Pottstown-Chester County New Schuylkill Bridge committee. Its members include leaders of borough government, business, industry and labor.

Affiliated with it are political leaders of both Montgomery and Chester counties.

day, Miller's immediate reply was, "Glad to do it. Although I have a couple of business appointments this afternoon, they can wait till tomorrow — this is more important."

Bobby could only say a few words at a time, as Christmas—the dream of every child—unfolded before him. And the last of these words were "Is Santa Claus coming back?"

AS MUCH as everyone present wanted to tell Bobby that he would be back, they couldn't because even the Philadelphia cancer specialist treating the boy's condition had said, "I'm afraid he won't last."

The danger of Bobby's condition, which manifested itself the past Sunday morning when he was seized with convulsions, lies in the expansion of the brain substance due to the malignant growth which has found its way there.

The physician said everything possible would be done to help Bobby, but he was afraid that "now it's only a matter of time."

The little boy still was playing with his toys when the hospital reported last night that he seemed to be feeling "unusually well." His parents were at his bedside playing the music box for him while he lay beside his large Santa Claus doll.

The duty nurse said she thought Bobby would probably be able to sleep well after all the excitement and would not need a sedative since he was not suffering from the pain that plagued him the night before.

'SCOTCH' BURGLAR —

Thieves stole $60 from the barrom of the Holy Trinity club, 437 South street.

IN SOUTH Pottstown and the Moose home, no attempts were made to force juke boxes or safes as were at Holy Trinity club.

Yesterday's burglary was discovered at 4 o'clock by Motor Patrolman Robert Scheidt. In making his routine business-place checks, he found a broken window on the west side of the building.

He and Sgt. Thomas A. Lawler, whom Scheidt had sent to the scene by calling Desk Sgt. Irvin K. Frederick, found that the thief had gone through the auditorium and kitchen as well as the barroom. Two safes in an office along this route were not touched.

But the burglar did take a box of tools and keys to the juke box. He apparently had made no attempt to open either the juke box or cigaret machine. The burglar left by the kitchen door.

A letter of appreciation also was directed by the board to be written to the hospital's Junior auxiliary for "the aid they have given through their many projects."

Seawel said this organization had for the past five years sponsored the operation of the orthopedic clinic at an annual cost of $2000, had been buying needed equipment for the hospital, and pledged $12,000 to cover the cost of the new graduate nurses' lounge.

A report for October indicated the hospital had admitted 396 patients, compared to 371 for the same month in 1951.

Additional statistics showed the average daily bed occupancy for October to be 97.5 patients who stayed an average of 7.7 days each.

Communication by Mail Provides Two Weeks of Study for 9th Grade

By LEE ASSEO

Throughout the past two weeks the Ninth grade English classes, under the direction of John DeVincentis, have studied communication by mail.

The pupils started by studying ways of conveying early messages This included the beating of the African "tom-tom," the beacon fires, the Marathon runner, and the American Indians' way of sending messages. The Indians would defy pilgrim settlers by sending them snake-skins filled with arrows. Captain Miles Standish countered this by returning a snake-skin filled with powder and bullets.

English postal service grew greatly as a result of the many wars between England and Scotland. Riders bearing messages for military leaders obtained fresh horses and rest at post houses situated 20 miles apart along English highways.

One of these stopping posts along the Great High road leading to Scotland was William Brewster's Tavern, "Scrooby Manor House." This tavern is sometimes called the "Birthplace of the American Republic" since it was here a band of Pilgrims made plans for a journey to the new world.

POSTAL SERVICE in America has developed greatly since the Mayflower returned to England in 1620 bringing letters to friends and relatives of those first Pilgrim settlers. Today with air mail, letter writing has almost become conversation.

DeVincentis's classes have studied the standards of both friendly and business letters. They discussed the parts of a friendly letter such as the: heading, salutation, body, complimentary close, and signature. He brought out the importance of expression and personality in friendly letters.

The students ended the unit by writing not only thank-you notes and bread-and-butter letters but also regular business letters. They studied the form of this type of letter and also filled out checks and money orders. Everyone feels he will benefit greatly by the knowledge obtained in this chapter.

History Classes Put American Study Into Short Acting Skits

By CAROL MARY BITLER

Miss Delp's history classes have been very active in the representation of the characters and periods of history they are studying.

The Tenth grade American history classes have been studying the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States Both of the sections presented a short skit.

One section produced a scene from the Constitutional Convention, while the other re-acted the signing of the Declaration of Independence.

One of the 11th grade history sessions produced a fashion show starting with the dress of ancient times and advancing to that of today. Another section acted out a radio skit dealing with the treatment of the Christians in ancient Rome. Miss Delp said that a radio skit dealing with the meeting of the United Nations is being planned for the near future.

10th Grade English Class Divided Into 2 Sections

By SHIRLEY EACHUS

The two sections of Tenth grade are now divided in their English studies. The commercial-general section is now having literature. They have just finished reading a novel by George Eliot called "Silas Marner." It is the story of a man who was rejected and then through a series of consequences was accepted by his fellow villagers.

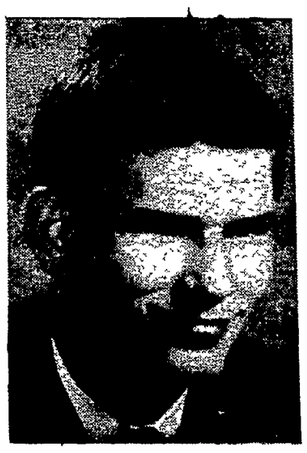

While this is going on in one section, the academic-vocational section is doing their best to distinguish among infinitives, gerunds and participles.

Mr. Miller has done his best and explained in every possible way to make us understand. After a week of difficulty most of us now understand the difference.

Norco High Alumnus Elected College Veep

Station Wagon Hit By Tractor-Trailer

The rear of a station wagon was smashed when it was hit by the front of a tractor-trailer at High and Franklin streets yesterday morning at 11:10 o'clock.

The trucker, Elwood Singley, Auburn, Schuylkill county, told Patrolman William H. Myers that the station wagon passed him and made a sharp right turn in front of him to go south on Franklin street.

The other driver, William H. Greiner, Shillington, Berks county, said he'd stopped for a red light. When he made the turn, he said, the truck hit him.

The entire right rear and right side of the station wagon was smashed, The truck had damage to its left front fender and the steering mechanism. No one was injured.

Rabbi Schorsch Tells St. John's America Is Land of Miracles

Dr. Emil Schorsch, rabbi of Congregation Mercy and Truth synagog, said last night that because American democracy can go on with all the outside pressures against it "America is a land of miracles"

Dr, Schorsch was the speaker at the meeting of St. John's Lutheran church, South Pottstown.

Twenty members of the brotherhood heard Dr. Schorsch speak of the "imminent danger of the philosophy of Communism."

The major opposition to Communism lies in religion, according to Dr. Schorsch. He said, "Religion has to offer the brotherhood of man under the creatorship of the father God It is a commandment that we shall not destroy our brother."

He said, "All men should work toward forming the larger brotherhood of men for that future day when we shall enjoy the perfect brotherhood with the father God."

That we can appreciate freedoms denied people of many countries of the world is the reason we should really give thanks on Tranksgiving Day, he concluded.

Building Exchange Hears 3-Part Talk On Insulation Theory

Homes are insulated to keep the heat in them, not to prevent cold air from entering the dwellings, the Building Industries Exchange of Pottstown and vicinity was told at its monthly meeting in Lakeside inn, Limerick, last night.

That theory was the theme of a three-part technical address on insulation by Robert Day, Charles Hensel and Charles Lawson, representatives of the Rigid Insulating Board of America, before the exchange.

The board is sponsored by nine manufacturers of insulating material.

Clarence Ebbert, executive secretary of the Reading Building Industries exchange, told the 26 members of the local group about his unit's annual home and building show.

President R B. Hunter directed the business session of the meeting

Direct Commissions Are Possible for College Graduates

College graduates can get direct commissions in the Air Force Reserve if they majored in science or engineering

Lt. Col. Frederick M. Roberts, commanding officer of the 9545th Volunteer Air Reserve Training unit, which includes Pottstown's Flight C, said last night that prior military service is not necessary, nor is actual working experiences.

"Students may apply after completing three and one-half years work with a major in engineering, mathematics. physics or chemistry," the colonel explained.

He added that the newly-commissioned officers would fill critical shortages in technical specialties.

Applicants must be at least 18, but not over 27, physically qualified, have a BB or BS degree, and may be married or single.

Reservists of other armed services may apply if not on active duty.

In the United States one in approximately every 100 persons is named Smith.

SEWER ASSESSMENT

chambers.

THE ARGUMENT developed over the extension of a storm sewer along Spruce street west of Lee avenue to Mineral street.

Builder David G. Welsh, who is conducting a development bordered by Grace and Spruce streets, Feist avenue and rear lot lines of Lee avenue properties, attended the session along with Attorney L. Stanley Mauger.

Borough manager Horace B. Gulden explained, "My problem is, how are you going to assess the costs?"

It was pointed out it would be unfair for the property owners along Spruce street where the storm sewer will be constructed to pay the entire costs because property owners over a much wider area will benefit by the construction.

Mauger suggested the rate be set according to drainage of the area.

Dow I. Sears, assistant to the borough manager, explained, "That's the way it's done in other places."

GEORGE P. RUYAK, Third ward, said, "I don't see how you can penalize people who live on the hill. That's their good fortune that they own property there."

Solicitor C. Edmund Wells explained, "There are a couple principals of the law involved there. It is an elementary right that waste water from one property be allowed to flow over a lower property and there is nothing the lower property owner can legally do to prevent the passage of water over his property."

Mauger asserted, "The basic problem under discussion is how far to extend the sewer. After all the people on the hill have altered the course of natural flow when they built streets."

Marshall, committee chairman, suggested the cost be computed for property owners of the entire area and that property owners along Spruce street pay on this basis and the borough pay the remainder of the bill

Marshall polled the committee which voted 5 to 1 to base the assessment on the footage basis for Spruce street property owners, at a rate computed for the entire area.

It was pointed out the 50 percent rule will apply to the construction of Spruce street, a border street on Welsh's development.

He will pay 50 percent of construction costs, opposing property owners will pay 25 percent and the borough will pay 25 percent.

Is Your Child Failing To Make Normal Growth and Weight Gains Because Of An Inadequate Diet?

Surveys Disclose 1 Out Of 2 Children Fail To Get The Recommended Amounts Of Food-Energy To Make Normal Weight and Growth Gains!

In Just 7 Days Start Your Child Growing Again With Wonder Bread!

The Bread That Helps Build Strong Bodies 8 Ways!

Note How Wonder Bread Compares With Meat, Milk, Fish and Eggs—See Chart

Children Go For Wonder Bread Because Doubly Fresh!

An average boy of 10 should gain about 6 pounds in one year.

Which is at the rate of ½ pound per month; or less than 2 ounces each week.

But any time your child fails to gain puts her or him that far behind.

Why Lack of Food-Energy Causes Weight and Growth Loss

Carbohydrate and fat supply food-energy. Protein supplies the "building blocks" of growth.

Now Nature cannot use carbohydrate and fat alone for growth, but it can use protein for energy.

Thus, when your child fails to get enough carbohydrate and fat food-energy, Nature uses the protein for food-energy instead of growth.

The result: Your child's growth is stunted.

Wonder Bread Helps Start Your Child Growing Again In Only 7 Days

A well-balanced diet calls for meat, milk, eggs, fruit and both yellow and green-leafed vegetables. And carbohydrate food for energy. Like Wonder Bread.

Because not only does Wonder Bread supply food-energy but protein. Study the chart and see how Wonder Bread helps build bigger and stronger bodies 8 ways.

So get your child on a good diet and at least 8 slices of Wonder Bread a day. In 7 days or less—your child will start growing again.

Measure your child in the doorway. Make a pencil mark now. Then in 3 months and 6 months—watch the mark shoot up!

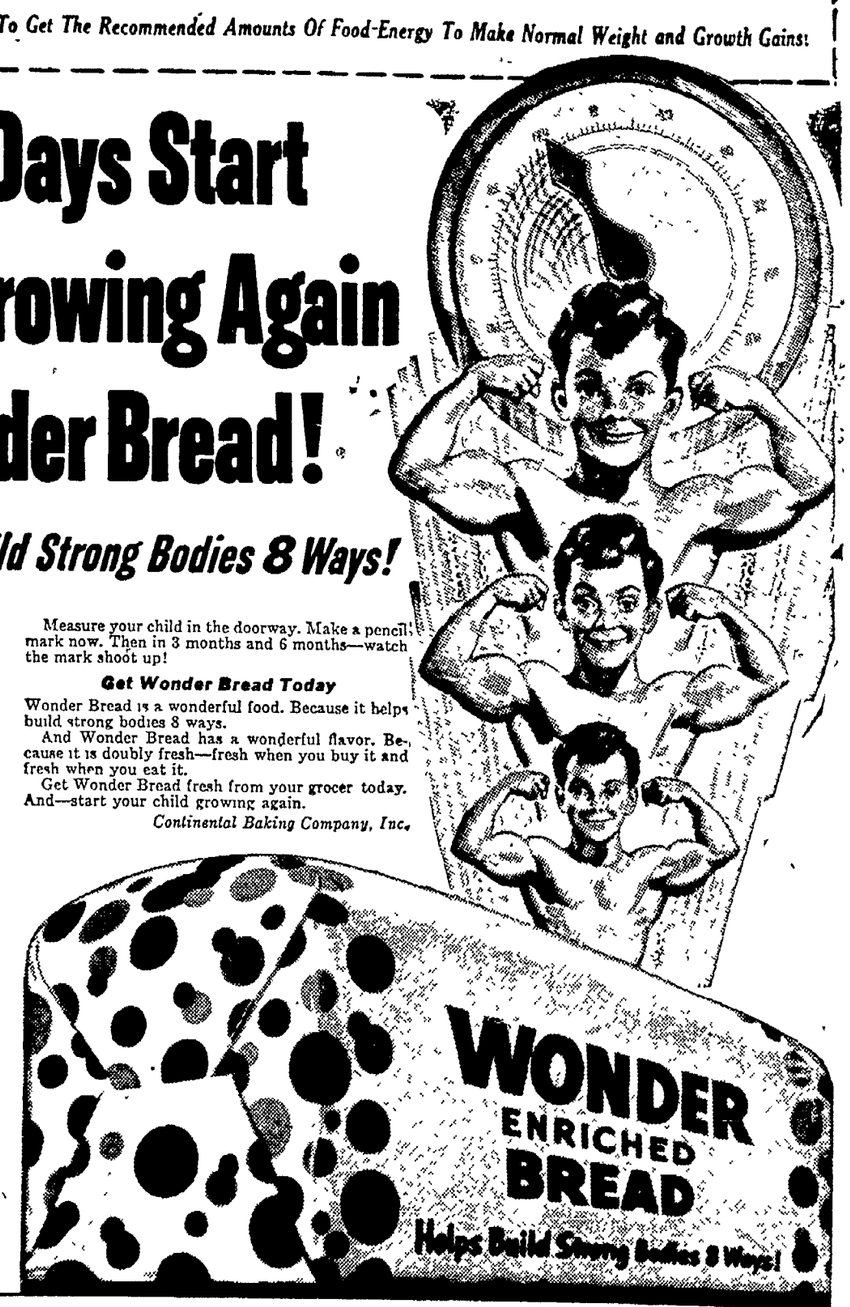

Get Wonder Bread Today

Wonder Bread is a wonderful food. Because it helps build strong bodies 8 ways.

And Wonder Bread has a wonderful flavor. Because it is doubly fresh—fresh when you buy it and fresh when you eat it.

Get Wonder Bread fresh from your grocer today. And—start your child growing again.

Continental Baking Company, Inc.

Here's How Wonder Bread Helps Build Bigger, Stronger Bodies 8 Ways! 2 Slices a Meal and a Sandwich Daily Supply:

1. MUSCLE. As much Protein as a serving of roast sirloin of beef.
2. BONES & TEETH. As much Calcium for bones and teeth as contained in a helping of cottage cheese.
3. BODY CELLS. As much Phosphorus for cell metabolism as 1 egg.
4. BLOOD. As much Iron for rich red blood as found in 3 lamb chops.
5. APPETITE. As much Vitamin B_1 to help maintain appetite as supplied by a serving of fried liver.
6. GROWTH. As much Vitamin B_2 for growth processes as 3 slices of yellow American cheese.
7. BRAIN. As much Niacin to help maintain mental health as 6 sardines.

A Quick Look at Your Neighbor

By BARRY NEMCOFF and BOB HOYER

ARTHUR A. HUGHES, 213 High street, Pottstown chiropractor for 20 years, has a varied background that includes being a theater musician. He also is probably the only man in Pottstown who once had to prove he had been born and another time had to prove he hadn't died.

Arthur A. Hughes

The proof of birth was required a few years ago when he had to produce documents necessary for getting a new type of State chiropracty license. The problem was that the courthouse in Lebanon where the records were kept had burned down.

Church records proved he was born. The next step was proving he had attended high school in South Lebanon. He hadn't gotten a diploma at the time, but later he studied the remaining subjects necessary to get his diploma.

Since he needed a diploma for the license, he had to prove how much schoolwork he'd had at the time. Because these records too had burned, Hughes was getting nowhere with the young principal from whom he needed a statement.

The day was saved when a woman who had been in his high school class happened to pass the school office. She was, by then, a teacher nearing retirement. With her backing, Hughes got his diploma 35 years late.

Hughes had to prove he wasn't dead on Christmas Day of 1949. He was visiting friends in Philadelphia when he heard a radio news broadcast that said erroneously "a Dr. Hughes of Pottstown" had just been killed in an auto accident near Paoli.

Since he is the only Dr. Hughes in Pottstown (he is a doctor of chiropracty), his friends became convinced it was he. He hurried back to Pottstown to unconvince them.

Hughes was a trumpeter for many years in Lebanon, playing in and later organizing boys' bands, and also playing in theater bands all over the East.

When he suffered a partial paralysis of the throat that was an after-effect of diphtheria, he went to see a chiropractor to whom he was recommended. The chiropractor fixed the throat. Hughes, then 28, decided to become a chiropractor.

He studied the field, which deals with manipulation of the spine and does not deal with drugs, at the Universal Chiropractic College of Pittsburgh. After a few years of additional training, he came to Pottstown, on Nov. 18, 1932. His home and office have been at the High street address for the past 11 years.

In recent years, woodworking has been his hobby, and he is likely to be carying drawings in his coat of his latest bookcase or cabinet project.

The 52-year-old chiropractor, who has reddish hair, a ruddy face and a ready smile, enjoys convivial conversation and one of his unofficial hobbies is spinning yarns, of which he has a prize collection.

A trustee of Pottstown Orioles Home association and chaplain of Nest 150, Fraternal Order of Orioles, he also has been a supreme trustee of the national lodge for the past three years.

He said he chose Pottstown for his practice, and would do so again because "It's a big family here. You're tipping your hat from the time you leave the door until you get into your car, and then you're waving."

Dr. Hughes has a son, Arthur Allen Hughes Jr., Pughtown.

A hallmark in the American system of private enterprise is the use by many successful businessmen of the phrase "and Sons" following their own names.

William L. Hart Jr., 29 West Second street, is one-half of that phrase as used by L. Hart and Sons, plumbing contractors. His specialty in a three-way association with his father and older brother is the installation and service of oil burners.

William L. Hart Jr.

As a qualified authority in that field, his advice to the owners of oil fired homes is to keep the burners clean. The end result is twofold: economy and safety.

His entering the business came at the conclusion of World War II, when somewhat undecided on the course he would follow as an ex-serviceman, he joined his father and brother, Henry, "just to help out." That was in October 1945 and he's been at it ever since.

He is the son and youngest of three children of Lawernce and Louise (Krause) Hart. The "Jr." in his name is explained by the fact that his father long ago abandoned "William" in his own signature. He has one sister, Mrs. Francis Trout, of Stowe.

Born in Pottstown on July 11, 1923, Hart attended the public elementary schools and was graduated from Pottstown High school in 1942 after studying the vocational course with an emphasis on electricity.

During his high school career, he made a name for himself in local athletics by playing varsity halfback on the football team despite the fact he weighed only 127 pounds. He also played varsity baseball in fielding positions for three years.

In high school, also, he developed an interest in a career in aviation, preferably with the Army and particularly on the flying end. Upon his graduation, however, he went to work at the Middletown Army Air depot where he worked for six months on classified material.

Feb. 14, 1943, he joined the Army Air corps, training first at Miami beach and later at Tyndall Field, Fla., in the subtle science of firing .30 and .50 caliber aerial machine guns. This was followed by additional training in aircraft mechanics at Shepperd Field, Texas, on B-25 and B-26 planes.

Upon completing that instruction, he was assigned as one of a 10-man crew of a B-17 and received group training. He became a flight engineer, supervising the members of the ship's enlisted crew while in the air.

As a member of the 92nd Bomb group, operating out of England, he flew 35 official combat missions over German-held Europe, including eight over Berlin. And like many of the combat veterans he talks with reservation about all but the pleasant experiences of his military service.

Between March and October 1944 he completed his overseas assignment and returned to the US where he taught the techniques of bombing and photographic missions to other airmen. In addition, until his discharge in October 1945, he helped fly condemned military aircraft from Denver, Colo., to Salt Lake City, Utah.

Hart holds the air medal with three Oak Leaf clusters, the Distinguished Flying Cross and the Presidential Unit citation.

Upon joining his father "just to help out," he enrolled at Temple university and studied heating engineering at night. He finished his course work in 1948.

Nov. 2, 1946, he was married to the former Doris Schroeder, of Pottstown. The couple has two children: Jane Louise, four, and William L. 3d, nine months.

Hart, who is tough competition in a game of shuffle bowling, is a member of the Empire Hook and Ladder company, the local American Legion, the Liberty Fire company and the New Berlinville Fire company. He enjoys tinkering at odd jobs around the house and particularly prefers photography as a hobby to which he would like to give more of his time.

State PTA Theme of Child and Family Slated In Convention Described to South Coventry

"The Child and His Family," theme of Pennsylvania PTA's as set in the state convention at Pocono Manor, was explained by Mrs. Elmer Wilson, president of South Coventry PTA.

Other forms which the theme may take are those which emphasis promotion of the child's welfare in the home—how family love may make a home out of a house

The family, continued Mrs. Wilson, serves the child in two primary ways After transmitting physiological features it looks to their growth and care.

Outside of the home, in school, it must help the child understand his teacher and the necessity of working with her.

A total of 175 members now belong to South Coventry PTA through the efforts of workers in a recently-completed membership drive, it was reported

Cristofaro-Bycowsky Ceremony Is Held

At a simple double ring ceremony in St. Aloysius Catholic church, Bernice P. Bycowsky became the bride of Pasquale P. Cristofaro on Saturday afternoon.

Miss Bycowsky is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Bycowsky, 1073 South street; the bridegroom is the son of Joseph Cristofaro, Yeadon, Pa., and nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cristofaro, Pottstown RD 3.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride approached the altar in a grey suit, white accessories and two white orchids. She also wore a single strand of pearls and earrings, a gift of the bridegroom.

Nancy Cristofaro, maid of honor and cousin of the bridegroom, was attired in a navy blue suit with white accessories and an orchid corsage. Joseph Cristofaro Jr., attended his brother as best man.

After a reception in the bride's home, the couple left on a honeymoon trip of undisclosed destination. On their return, Mr. and Mrs. Cristofaro will reside in a newly furnished home at 38 Oxford street, Fernwood, Pa.

He has recently been discharged from the US Army after three years service part of which was spent in Korea.

Guests attending the reception were: Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Bycowsky, Edmund Bycowsky, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kuszyk and children, Mary Ann and Donald, and Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Minnick and son, Stephen.

Parkerford Youth Temperance Council's Silver Speech Medal Awarded to Marcia Mauger's Dialogue Betwixt 2 Liquor Mugs

Five 12 and 13-year-olds competed Sunday night in Parkerford Brethren church for a silver medal awarded the winner of Parkerford Youth Temperance council's speech contest.

Contestants George Crosland, Jean Graham, Billy Wells, Sally Moore and Marcia Mauger presented selections taken from books on temperance.

Miss Mauger's winning speech was entitled, "The Gold Mug." It concerned the conversation of two beer mugs in a junk shop. The plain mug came from a tavern where it had been used as an instrument of mutilation in an argument between two drunkard friends.

The other, a gold vessel, once had held liquor for high officials in a castle. The influence of its evil cargo had led to the revelation of state secrets and subsequent ruin of their possessors.

Both mugs wistfully concluded that they longed for nothing more in their futures than to serve milk to some sweet child.

"Mousie Goes Hungry" was George Crosland's topic. Because drink had come into the life of the man of the household, there was no food for its inhabitants. Even the mice were starving.

Sally Moore chose "One Drink Too Many" which illustrated the disastrous effects of drink upon drivers.

A dialogue between two girls, one rich, one poor, was called "Thief at Large" by Jean Graham. Horrified by the rich girl's tendency towards drink, the poor girl revealed to her friend alcoholic events leading to her downfall in the hopes that her story would influence the rich girl's future conduct.

"Of Clowns and Lions" by Billy Wells enacted the conversation of a circus aerialist whom a small boy and his father met at a carnival. The performer explained to the pair the necessity of sobriety in his profession where one misstep could mean death.

Barbara Mauger, local president of the WCTU young people and state speech contest director, was in charge of the event.

Judges were Myrna Fry, Mary MacAfee and Mrs. J. D. Cope.

Participating in the church service which preceded the contest were: Mrs. Ray Willauer, organist; George Heck, Scripture reader and the Rev. Alvin S. Alderfer, pastor of the church.

Mrs. John Malenke, leader of group singing; and Barbara Mauger, marimba soloist.

Prompt Dressing, Proper Care and Careful Cooking Can Make Wild Game a Tasty Dish

With hunting season in full swing, believes Della S. Short, Montgomery county home economics extension representative, even a non-hunting housewife should know what to do with wild game.

"Even if you don't climb about the hills in a red hat and boots," she said, "you can keep a hunting husband happy by treating his wild game properly and cooking it well."

Proper dressing is very important to the quality of the game, she stressed in outlining pre-cooking procedure.

Three vital steps, she said, include:

1. Drain the blood from the game as soon as possible after shooting. This improves the quality of the meat.
2. Discard the entrails to remove the chief cause of spoilage, especially in rabbits.
3. Chill all game as rapidly as possible.

"Some folks soak rabbit in water with vinegar or salt added to remove some of the gamey flavor," she continued, "however, soaking is a matter of personal taste, for rabbit may be cooked without soaking."

Mrs. Short believes young rabbit should be baked or fried, while an older hare tastes better when fricasseed or stewed. Squirrel is prepared the same as rabbit.

Game birds, she said, should be braised or cooked in a covered roaster to keep them from drying out. They also may be wrapped in bacon before cooking.

"Pressure saucepans," she added, "are excellent for cooking small game birds and animals — especially the older ones."

To pressure cook a pheasant, she instructed, fill it with bread stuffing, brown the bird, then add about 1 cup of water to it in the saucepan. Cook 10 to 15 minutes at 15 pounds pressure.

Small game should be cut up, floured, browned and placed in the pan with potatoes, carrots, onions and one cup water. Cook 15 minutes at 10 pounds pressure, allowing it to go down gradually before removing cover.

For something different in the way of gravy, Mrs. Short suggested stirring in one cup of sour cream just before serving.

Another variation in the sauce for the gander—or rabbit, or small bird—is to add half a cup of sherry or madeira to pressure-cooker water or basting liquid, along with a pinch of thyme and marjorum.

Grade School Construction Problems Aired at Royersford PTA Meeting

Problems pertinent to constructing a new elementary school building were discussed at the November meeting of Royersford Parent-Teacher association, with upwards of 100 persons attending last night in the high school auditorium.

R. F. Daum, business manager and financial secretary of the Abington township school district, discussed the venture at length, preparatory to a panel discussion.

Daum told the group how to proceed if it is determined there is a need for a new school. He suggested:

The size, to be determined by the population and future population trends; the location and the kind of site, based on recommendations of the National Council on School House Construction.

HE ADVISED securing an architect of experience, one who will listen to suggestions and one who understands educational problems.

For building planning, he thought it best to have cooperative planning between those who have an interest in the building and the school board, rather than the school board alone, because parents naturally will have a vital interest in it.

He advised setting a budget and keeping the amount secret.

DR. O. C. KUNTZLEMAN, supervising principal, served as moderator for the panel discussion. Serving on the panel were Paul Krasley, president of the school board; Paul Bergstresser, president of the PTA; Evan Kline, Mrs. W. D. Geiser and Mrs. Roy Peoples, also representing the PTA, and four of the elementary school teachers. Mrs. Helen Brungess, Grade 3; Helen Zeufle, Grade 4; Mrs. Marie Bower, Grade 5, and Mrs. Ruth Wonderlich, Grade 6.

The Rev. Paul J. Henry, pastor of Grace Lutheran church, led a short devotional period before the business meeting which was conducted by Paul Bergstresser, PTA president.

The resignation of Mrs. Ralph Quigg as chairman of the finance committee, was read and accepted. Albert J. Kinsky, membership committee chairman, reported a total membership of 335, compared with 250 the past year.

MRS. W. D. GEISER, reporting for the high school curtain fund, said the total in this fund has increased to $2761.32. Bergstresser announced the next meeting will be Jan. 26, with Dr. R. K. Glocker as the speaker.

Before the discussion of the proposed new school building, the high school choral group, directed by Alice Schimpf, sang "Ride The Chariot" and "Sons and Daughters of a Land Reborn."

Women's Mission Society Re-Names President, Elects Full Officer Slate

Election of officers for the Women's Missionary society of Trinity Evangelical Congregational church, Boyertown, was held recently at the home of Mrs. Daniel F. Longacre, 125 North Walnut street, Boyertown.

The pastor, Rev. H. I. Carmichael, was in charge of the election with Mrs. William Houck, renamed president for the coming year.

Other officers elected were: Mrs. Ada Hallman, vice president; Mrs. Claude Geesey, secretary; Mrs. Joseph Mathias, treasurer; and Patricia Mathias, corresponding secretary.

MRS HOUCK was in charge of a program in which members of the society took part.

It was reported that the Society, over the past several months, has been doing a lot of special work. Many bandages have been rolled and sent direct to Dr. and Mrs. Carl K. Becker, missionaries in Africa and members of the church who are presently serving under the Africa Inland Mission board.

The Evangelical Congregational churches have a Mission located at Glenn Eden, Ky., which has been receiving support from the local Women's Missionary society. During the past several months the society has sent several large boxes of clothing to the Mission which in turn supports the Mission field and districts.

Court Rules Building Is Nuisance, Orders It Razed by Township

Supervisors of Hereford township were authorized by President Judge H. Robert Mays, in an opinion filed yesterday, to remove a church building, described as a public nuisance.

Raymond G. Albitz, A. G Kriebel and Earl T. Geisinger, township supervisors, notified the court on Aug. 29 that property owners had petitioned them to remove a building owned by the Union Protestant Chapel association which had become a nuisance.

Judge Mays, in Berks County court, ruled that the last known owners of the property were Edward Klotz, Jonas Kriebel and Jeremiah Meschter, who were the trustees of the association, and are now deceased. No successors to their office have been appointed or elected, says Judge Mays.

The court further noted that no meetings of the association have been held since 1910; that there are no known living members of the association; that the building is in bad physical condition, windows in the building are broken and during a windstorm, slate from the roof is blown onto the property of adjoining owners and onto the highway and it is dangerous to children.

Judge Mays ruled the structure a public nuisance and should be removed. The order directs the supervisors to sell any part of the premises and apply the proceeds toward the cost of demolition of the building.

Clubs as Fire Hazards Probed by Department

PITTSBURGH, Nov 24 (AP)—The Pittsburgh Fire department launched a probe today to determine whether 10 Pittsburgh clubs are "fire hazards," as charged by Dist. Atty. James F. Malone.

Malone says the clubs also are "gambling dens" but, that they have so many doors and such thick doors that county detectives can't get in to make arrests

In a letter to Safety Director George E. A. Fairley, who supervises the city police and fire departments, Malone listed 10 clubs which he said have such intricate systems of steel doors, peepholes and buzzers that they present a "serious" threat in case of fire.

$8401 Collected By Churchmen For Renovations

Following his sermon, the volunteers stood up with Rev. Schneck then conducting a special service for them.

Hunsberger of the finance committee, are seated in the Mothers' class of the Sunday school room, each night this week from 8 to 10 p. m., receiving the money from the canvassers as they are completing their given number of members to be contacted. This Ring Is Lucky

Women usually like rings around their finger but the lucky woman with the ring around her head in The Mercury's photo contest will be $2.50 richer when she reports to The Mercury office, King and Hanover streets. Identification and a good memory are all that are required to pick up the loot. The lucky ring wearer must remember where The Mercury Photographer snapped her picture. Keep your eye peeled for the ringed photo. Pictures will be taken daily among shoppers in Santa Clausland. You may be the next winner.

Norco High School Co-ed Is Latest Unwary Buyer to Find Self in 'Ring'

A North Coventry High school girl with a yen for Christmas shopping is the latest Mercury reader to strike it rich in the ringed photo contest.

Carolyn Garner, 18, Douglassville RD 1, was an unsuspecting shopper in front of the Firestone store, High and Penn streets, Friday, when The Mercury photographer flashed his camera in her direction.

Miss Garner

Miss Garner was on a Christmas shopping tour when the lucky photograph was taken.

She claimed her $2.50 prize at The Mercury office, King and Hanover streets, yesterday.

A telephone operator by night and school girl by day, she has found three or four abrasions on the throat which looked "suspiciously" like finger marks.

Death, he observed came early Friday from a long knife, but he said it was impossible to say whether is was a double or single edged weapon

The murder weapon was not found at the scene of the crime. Ganly's news-stand at Boush street and Brambleton avenue.

Murder Seems Headed For Unsolved Category

NORFOLK, Va., Nov. 24 (AP)—Harry J Ganly's murder appeared headed for the "unsolved" classification today. Only one new bit of evidence has come to light.

Dr. C. D. J. McDonald, who examined the 70 year old news-stand operator's body said today he to restrict her shopping to afternoon excursions.

Except for several door prizes, the Mercantile bureau award was the first she has received.

Every day during the Christmas season the Mercantile bureau will give a $2.50 prize to some lucky borough shopper.

If you shop in Pottstown's Santa Clausland your photo may be the next in the paper. Watch The Mercury for the ringed photo.

Jerry Christman Bowls 300

Jerry Christman, one of Pottstown's ranking bowlers joined the ultra-exclusive 300 club Saturday night by rolling 12 consecutive strikes on the Owls alleys.

It took 13 years, but the 34-year-old Christman accomplished the dream of every kegler by throwing the perfect game. Only a few 300 games have been rolled in Pottstown, the last coming earlier this year with Irv Seeders spinning the 12-in-a-row on the same Owls lanes.

Looking over Christman's record of the past season it is surprising he has waited this long to enter the charmed circle. He bowls in four leagues plus performing with the Owls Saturday night traveling team.

It was with the last mentioned fivesome that he turned the 300 trick. Along with gaining a new single game high he also broke his high triple total with a 725 score. Last season he notched a 714 triple while also running off a 290 single, his previous best before Saturday.

HIS OTHER two games Saturday as he led the Owls to a win over the Kenhorst Fire company, were 210 in the opening line, followed by the "big" one, and closing with a 215.

As it was not a league game, Christman missed out on the Owls standing offer of a diamond ring to anyone who hits 300 in league play.

A peek at his last season's record shows Jerry was in the money in every league in which he competed. His busy weekly schedule includes:

Monday night — Owls Winter league, 195 average last season to rank second to Carl Young. (Young, incidentally, had a 300 game last year in the Tri-County league).

Tuesday night—Arrow Independent league, 195 average last season for best in the loop.

Thursday night—Pottstown Major league for bowlers with 185 average or better Last season Jerry sported a 197 average.

Saturday night — Owls traveling team.

Sunday — Tri-County league, 195 average last season to rank second in the circuit.

WEDNESDAY NIGHT is the missus' night out.

His wife, Norma, started her bowling career this season and carries a 120-plus average in the Women's league at the Arrow alleys on Wednesday nights. She has a first rate teacher in her husband, but while Jerry was busy with his monotonous strike bowling Saturday night, Norma had trouble keeping her mind on her own game.

Christman was working on alleys one and two and his wife was bowling on three and four. Norma was so excited at her husband's success that she had almost as many misses as he did strikes, and wound up with 216 pins less than Jerry. (We promised not to give her score).

As much as she enjoys watching Jerry bowl, Mrs. Christman has her daughter, Dawn, 11, and son, Gerald, Jr., 7, to care for at their 9 West Third street residence.

Harold Krause, a teammate of Christman during his record breaking game, turned in a 234 score that was instrumental in building a team total of 1099. One comment that brought a laugh from all concerned was:

* * *

"WHY DIDN'T you roll 301, Jerry, and we would have had an 1100 game."

Having reached the maximum leaves only a repeat performance to be accomplished by Christman.

He has bowled in two national ABC tourneys, in Atlantic City, and Columbus, Ohio. Both times he won prize money as he did in his two State ABC appearances in Wilkes-Barre and Johnstown.

Other recent 300 bowlers were Earl Jones, Carl Troutman and Chris Baum.

With bowling gaining more and more interest all the time, Jerry Christman is one of Pottstown's young stars to watch.

That ball coming toward you has had the pleasure of being an important part of a 300 game rolled by its owner, Jerry Christman. An employe of Three Crowns Industries, Christman scored his perfect game bowling with the Owls Saturday night traveling team on the Owls alleys. He also rolled his highest triple in 13 years of pin toppling, a 725 series of games of 210, 300 and 215.

NC ELECTS WHITLATCH

Team members of next year's North Coventry High football team met yesterday and elected fullback Bill Whitlatch as captain for the 1953 season.

Whitlatch, now a Junior, played a fine game the past Saturday, blocking a punt, recovering an important fumble and bulwarking the middle of the Wildcats' five man line in their 0-0 tie with West Pottsgrove. He succeeds Fred Kerlin, the past season's field leader.

Tamburo Named MVP

EAST LANSING, Mich., Nov. 24 (AP)—Linebacker Dick Tamburo captain of the Michigan State defense, was named "most valuable" player at the annual banquet for the football team here tonight.

Cards, Scorpions Win in 'Y' League

The Cardinals flapped their wings desperately in the second half and overtook the Eagles, 54-52, last night as the YMCA Senior House league finished its warmups for the season which starts Dec. 1.

In the nightcap, the Scorpions bounced the Senior Hi-Y, 54-39, behind a well-distributed attack.

Josh Collins was the evening's high scorer, dunking 11 field goals and a pair of fouls for 24 markers, for the Cards. Teammate Bill Missimer came in for 14 points also, as the Cards racked up 12 and 17 points in the third and fourth periods to overrule a 33-25 Eagle intermission edge.

The Scorps led, 11-9, at the quarter and were never headed thereafter.

Dick Kelly's 11 and Bob Grow's nine paced the Y's.

Director Len Bernhardt announced last night that the circuit could accommodate two more teams. Entries should be made in advance of the circuit's opening date, which is next Monday evening.

Harold Johnson Decisions Valdez

BROOKLYN, Nov. 24 (AP)—Harold Johnson, 176, Philadelphia, the second ranking contender for Joey Maxim's light heavyweight championship, scored a unanimous ten-round decision over big Nino Valdez, 210, Havana, in the feature bout at Eastern Parkway arena tonight

Although there were no knockdowns, Johnson was ahead all the way. Both judges' scorecards gave the battle to him, 10-0, while referee Abe Simon scored it 8-1-1 Simon gave the first round to Valdez.

West Vincent PTA Turkey Shoot Sat.

The postponed West Vincent PTA turkey shoot, which was originally carded for the past Saturday but rained out, has been relisted for this Sat., Nov. 29, at the Ludwig's Corner Horse show grounds.

The shoot is open to the public and 12 gauge shotguns will be used and provided, but entries may bring their own guns. Seymour Titone and Edward Palmer head the committee for the occasion.

Doreen Fry Captures Football Contest Prize With 8 Out of 10 Right Choices

A majority of upsets in The Mercury's Football Forecasters' contest over the past weekend gave contestants their worst jarring around of the year, relegating the bulk of the entries to the three and four right lists.

Doreen Fry, 625 North Evans street, however, came through with eight right picks to cop the first prize of four tickets to the Strand theater with our compliments.

Miss Fry was exceedingly accurate on a handful of her picks. She picked the exact point totals for Penn State, Southern California, Temple and Kentucky, and missed the HC-Temple score by but one point and the Rice-TCU game by but two.

The only other entry to hit as many right as Doreen, Dick Linderman, 534 North Charlotte street, came in as runnerup, trailing his female opponent by 18 points in correctness of scores.

Linderman is entitled to a pair of ducats to the Strand.

There were only three entries with seven right in the final tally.

Most of the field was tripped up by the last five games on the entry blank. And there wasn't anyone in the contest who didn't miss at least two of the last five.

NORTHWESTERN'S surprise victory over Illinois, Alabama's upset of Maryland, Tennessee's tie with Kentucky, Rice's win over TCU and USC's sunbathed triumph at the expense of UCLA for the Pacific Coast crown were the prime stumpers.

Penn State's upending of Pitt and the win turned in by Ohio State over Michigan also aided in flooring the local armchair experts.

Chico Vejar Wins TKO Over Luciano

SYRACUSE, N.Y., Nov. 24 (AP) — Chico Vejar, student of dramatic arts at New York University, pounded his way to a technical knockout victory over Johnny "Sonny" Luciano of Miami, Fla., at the end of the sixth round at the War Memorial auditorium tonight.

Vejar, from Stamford, Conn., weighed 147¾ and Luciano 144.

Referee Mark Conn stopped the bout at the end of the sixth round when Luciano appeared unable to continue.

Vejar opened slowly in the first round and picked up momentum steadily, jabbing Luciano with a good left hand Judges Jack Michaels and Dick Fazio along with Conn gave all six rounds to Vejar.

THE FIFTH ROUND was the best of the fight with both boys mixing it up. Vejar had Luciano on the ropes during this round and a sharp right hook by the 22-year-old college student hurt Luciano, who fought back gamely.

Vejar unleashed a strong two-fisted attack in the sixth round, mixing good left handed jabbing with telling right hooks to the face. Luciano was wobbly at the bell and the referee stepped in to end the bout.

Dethroned Ches-Mont Champs, Downingtown, Favored Again to Hand Trojans Fourth Defeat in League

Already deposed as Ches-Mont champions by a bruising Berwyn eleven, Downingtown High will host Pottstown on Thanksgiving morning still holding the same favorite tag that the unbargain-minded Trojans nearly ripped in two out of sheer disrespect in 1951.

The past year, the fuzzy-cheeked minions of Heeb Meyers had the Whippets beating their heads against a stone line until the final three minutes when Bill Talerico rang up two touchdowns for a 12-0 Yellow and Blue verdict at Franklin field.

Much the same type of tiff is expected again Thursday, with both clubs playing heavy footed, ball control football but still capable of getting off that long play for the grand prize.

One of the heroes in the Whips' 1951 win was sub tailback Bill Miller, a will-o'-the-whisp who helped set up both scores with his whipping passing arm and quick-heeled overland maneuvers.

Miller, now a Senior, will head up this year's version of Howard Caskey's edition of single wing a la mode Penn State (Bob Higgins vintage). Miller does all the passing from his tailback slot and has proven a definite threat to the outside, and on the typical Warner system off tackle cut ins and slants.

At the spinner post in the Whips' backfield is bull-charging Al Cellini, who runs on the middle track most of the time, directing his assaults primarily at the guards and the short side tackle.

WINGBACK Tom Pollock is the man on the reverses and is also a good target for Miller's heaves, either long or over the middle. Blocking back Jocko Thompson is used in instances on trailer passes into the flat behind the right end, but is first off just what his position reads—a blocking back—and he's a capable blocker, to say the least.

Soph Tom Jeffries, not quite the polished open field dancer that is Miller, relieves the latter on the tail in many instances. He's fast like Miller and tough to catch though, and has gotten away for several long runs across open stretches of plain this year.

Caskey has tried to augment his right wing with flankers with moderate success.

Captain Eddie Law at right guard, who leads the pull out interference on the majority of the Downingtown schemes with his 220 pound frame, and right tackle Alex Pannebaker stack up as the Whippets' best offensive linemen

From tackle to tackle, they're all big, although one observer offered that defensively they were "blockable—and not impregnable. Pottstown should be able to move against them"

LEFT END Pete Boggs, another Senior, seems to be the favorite object at which Miller directs his long downfield pegs. Boggs is fast, tall and wily and should lead the Pottstown defenders a merry chase unless they get foxy all of a sudden.

Once endowed with the ball Downingtown tends to try to hold onto it as long as possible, working its single wing sequences, but it can go for that long one via the airlanes or on an explosive bit of pedal artistry by Miller and his cohorts. Actually, though, the Whips usually sock for a couple of yards at a grab on the ground.

Defensively, as we learned before, the Whips can be moved, and most teams have been able to pass against them with fair success.

And the whipper are an opportunist bunch, continually taking advantage of fumbles, interceptions and the like to transform them into TD's of their own.

YESTERDAY, Pottstown worked on its offense for about a half hour, shifting then to defensive work, with a short dummy scrimmage against Downingtown's offensive plays, and then a full tilt scrimmage climaxing the workout.

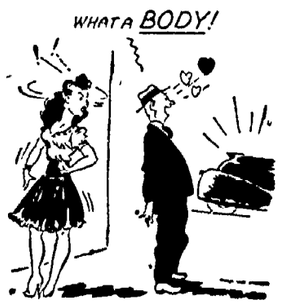

All the injuries are now sufficiently healed and the squad is at full strength again with reserves Carl Burns and Walt Axsmith back in the fold.

It was the Trojans' first outdoor drill since the past Wednesday when the rains came and chased Meyers' men indoors to the blackboard.

New Year's Lineup Set

Wisconsin, Syracuse Accept Bids To Play in Rose, Orange Bowls

NEW YORK, Nov. 24 (AP)—The lineup for the big post-season football games was completed today with Wisconsin named to face Southern California in the Rose Bowl Jan. 1 and Syracuse university picked as a foe for Alabama in Miami's Orange Bowl.

Some four hours separated the final two selections in a day that saw Navy turn down an offer to play in the Orange Bowl. The Naval Academy's players and officials apparently were eager but the Naval Department said "no."

So with Coach Ben Schwartzwalder and other Syracuse authorities sitting by their telephones, gnawing fingernails, the important long-distance phone call finally came from Miami shortly before 5 p. m. Pottstown time.

Syracuse, one of the best teams in the East, has won seven games of a representative schedule, losing only to Bolling Air Field and top-ranked Michigan State.

The Big Ten vote favoring Wisconsin was released for 1 p. m., Pottstown time.

Here is the major bowl picture, with the Southeastern Conference providing half of the teams:

ROSE BOWL — Southern California (9-0) vs. Wisconsin (6-2-1).

Sugar Bowl—Georgia Tech (10-0) vs. Mississippi (7-0-2).

Cotton Bowl—Texas (7-2) vs. Tennessee (7-1-1).

Orange Bowl—Alabama (8-2) vs. Syracuse (7-2).

Wisconsin, a team which hasn't won or shared a Big Ten title since 1912, was chosen for the New Year's Day chore over Purdue after the two elevens finished their campaigns Saturday tied for the championship with identical league records (4-1-1).

The Badgers got a majority of votes in a poll of the Big Ten athletic directors. The margin of voting was not revealed.

The determining factor apparently was Wisconsin's superior overall record of six victories, two defeats and one tie. Purdue won only four games while losing three and tying two.

NAVY'S COLORFUL team, which has lost only to Maryland and Notre Dame and tied Penn in eight games, could have had the Orange Bowl assignment but the project was vetoed by the Navy Department in Washington.

After the Orange Bowl tendered the bid, Naval officials at Annapolis as well as the coaching staff and players were very receptive. Vice Adm. Turner Joy, commandant at the Academy, went to Washington to discuss the matter with Secretary of the Navy Kimball.

A spokesman said it was agreed at the conference that Navy should follow the long-standing policy of the service academies not to participate in post-season games. Navy went to the Rose Bowl in 1924 and tied Washington, 14-14.

Penn State's Rip Engle Cites Unfairness of Football Polls

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 24 (AP)—Football coach Rip Engle of Penn State described football rating systems today as an "injustice to the kids who play collegiate ball."

Engle told the Pittsburgh Quarterback club he has no objections to newspapers publishing ratings but added "they should appear in the comic section—not the sports pages."

"They (the ratings) are nowhere near accurate," declared Engle. "All teams have letdowns if they play tough schedules."

He pointed out his team met three unbeaten teams—Nebraska, Michigan State and Penn—on successive Saturdays.

"Our biggest emotional setback," continued Engle, "came after the Penn game. We played Syracuse the next week and got walloped.'

Engle suggested that the ratings be made at the end of the season, evaluating schedules and other factors.

HE SAID if a team has a letdown early it is discounted by the ratings. If it comes later, Engle said, the team is ignored.

Engle also took a blast at football form (poll) sheets. He said there isn't a college in the country that isn't overrun with them. He added:

"The gamblers give you 21 points on a game. You can take or give the spot. But you never win. Gambling is definitely hurting college football and is getting worse all the time. It will have even a worst effect later on if something isn't done."

The silver-thatched mentor of the Nittany Lions, who closed out the season Saturday with a 7-0 upset over the University of Pittsburgh, called the Panthers the best team in the East.

"We were just up a little more and probably had more incentive than the Panthers," Engle said. "It was a team victory. But any team that beats Notre Dame, Army and three Big 10 elevens is a great squad. Our kids just went all out."

PENN STATE finished the season with seven victories, two losses and a tie for its best mark since 1948. Pitt won six and lost three for its best record in 12 years.

Coach Lowell (Red) Dawson of Pitt also attended the luncheon. He said his team was well set mentally but came up with the tendency to take the game in the same light as the press. Pitt had been installed a 10 point favorite.

Train Company Adds Extra Sleepers For Saturday's Army-Navy Game

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 24 (AP)—The Pullman company announced today that 108 special cars will be used to carry spectators to the Army-Navy football game Saturday at Municipal Stadium in Philadelphia.

Fifty-six cars will come from New York, while 52 will carry fans from Washington and Baltimore, A. H. Lobeck, Pullman regional manager said today.

Lobeck said Saturday's extra movement of Pullman cars will be the largest to any football game in the East during the current season. The only game throughout the nation that has drawn more equipment was the Notre Dame-Oklahoma battle two weeks ago at South Bend, Ind., he said. Some 160 cars were used for the Irish-Sooner meeting.

Defense Department officials who will travel from Washington to Philadelphia via Pullman to witness the Army-Navy game include Deputy Secretary William C. Foster, Air Secretary Thomas K. Finletter, Army Secretary Frank Pace, Jr., Navy Secretary Daniel A. Kimball and Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff.

President Truman previously had announced his intention of witnessing the game, already a sell-out of more than 100,000 spectators.

3 Pitt Steelers Suffer Injuries

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 24 (AP)—Three Pittsburgh Steelers suffered injuries in Sunday's game against the Chicago Cardinals, X-rays disclosed today.

Halfback Jim Brandt fractured a shoulder blade, end George Sulima suffered a shoulder separation, and defensive halfback Jack Butler fractured a rib.

—Brandt probably will be out for the rest of the season, a Steelers spokesman said. Sulima appears a doubtful starter against the New York Giants next Sunday in the Steelers' final home game.

Emmanuel Shifts Practice Dates

Emmanuel Lutheran's Sunday School league practice session has been moved up from tomorrow night to this evening, announces Paul Anderson, Emmanuel manager.

He requests that all players interested in trying out for the Emmanuel team should report tonight at the Franklin school gym for the 8 o'clock practice.

If the Mercy and Truth team, originally scheduled for a warmup game with Emmanuel tomorrow night can play, the game will go on as planned. Otherwise, Emmanuel will hold an intra-squad drill.

CBL Warmups Start

The City Basketball league preseason warmups swing into line this evening on the Junior High floor, with a pair of practice tilts listed.

In the opener at 6:30 p. m., Three Crowns meets newcomer Jacobs, and Flaggs vies with URW 336 at 8:15 p. m., director Howard Horrocks announced last night.

Phillies' President Denies He Bought Kiner But is Delaying Announcement

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 24 (AP)—Bob Carpenter, president of the Philadelphia Phillies today denied a report that he had purchased the Pittsburgh Pirate's slugging outfielder, Ralph Kiner.

The Phillies boss also denied that the deal was to have been announced at the major league meeting in Phoenix, Ariz., next week.

Said Carpenter, "I have not even talked to Branch Rickey or any member of the Pittsburgh club."

"I have," he added, "made several substantial cash offers for several other National league stars, but they were all rejected. I offered two or three times what I thought they were worth and still got a refusal."

Carpenter said that whenever he offered money, "they came back with a demand for one or two of my front line players — Del Ennis, Robin Roberts, Curt Simmons, Gran Hamner, Karl Drews, Richie Ashburn and men of that calibre."

"These men are not for trade or sale," Carpenter said. "I don't believe in weakening one spot to strengthen another."

Army Inducts Don Heinrich

SEATTLE, Nov. 24 (AP) — Don Heinrich, "the arm" of the University of Washington football, was inducted into the Army here today.

The All-America quarterback of 1950, who has been bidding for the same honor this year, as the nation's top collegiate passer, went through the induction center here with a score of youths from his home county. He will be sent to Fort Lewis.

A question mark still hovered over his chances of playing for Washington in the team's final 1952 game against Washington State Saturday at Spokane.

There have been reports that, as a new recruit at a base near home, he would be able to draw a pass that would allow him to play Saturday.

HUNTING BAN ON XMAS DAY

HARRISBURG, Nov. 24 (AP)—The State Game Commission today banned the hunting of small game in Pennsylvania on Christmas Day.

The holiday originally was included in a special six-day hunting season from Dec. 22 to 27 set up by the commission because of the late start of the regular small game season.

The commission said today, however, that the special season now will run only five days because of the "sanctity of Christmas Day."

The opening of the regular season had been set back from Nov. 1 to Nov. 11 because of drought conditions creating a fire hazard in the State's woodlands.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

ST. CLAIR McKELWAY, attempting a word-picture of critic Wolcott Gibbs, declares, "His nerves are as much a part of him as his moustache and are even more impressive in their way. I think he's the most nervous man I've ever known—but at the same time the least neurotic. I remember him telling me once how he had tried to lift a martini to his lips before lunch and succeeded only in tossing part of it into the face of an innocent bystander. 'Glass flew out of my hand like a bird,' he said, with something close to awe."

A policeman heard the crash three blocks away and came running to find a dazed little man wedged in behind the crushed wheel, trembling but seemingly uninjured. "How did it happen?" cried the cop. "I guess," mourned the little man, "my wife fell asleep in the back seat."

Open Season For Unlicensed Hunters

Here is news about a kind of hunting that everyone can engage in . . . license free, and right on your own property too.

Take an expedition to your attic, garage, basement, or storage closet. You'll be hunting for those items that you no longer use, but which will be of use to someone else. You'll keep a sharp lookout for used hunting and camping equipment, appliances, furniture, bicycles, toy electric trains, clothing, and hundreds of other items which are much in demand.

When you locate your game, you haul it out. Then you call 6000 and place a low cost Want Ad. First thing you know, instead of a bunch of dust catchers, you've got a handful of cash.

Yesterday's Answer

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:
A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

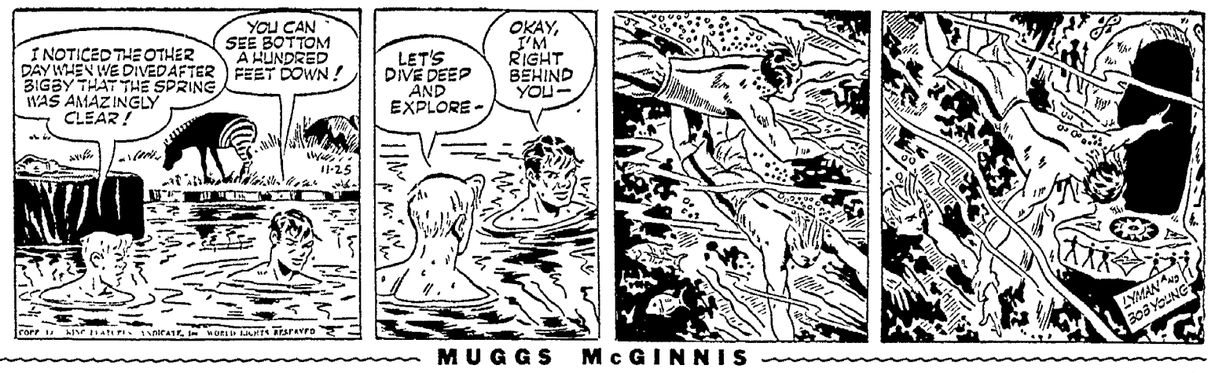

A Cryptogram Quotation

M S D J D K N C Q D H N A X D J F A M S D H D D H, Q L M M S D J D F V S G A G L J M G G—N C M G L A.

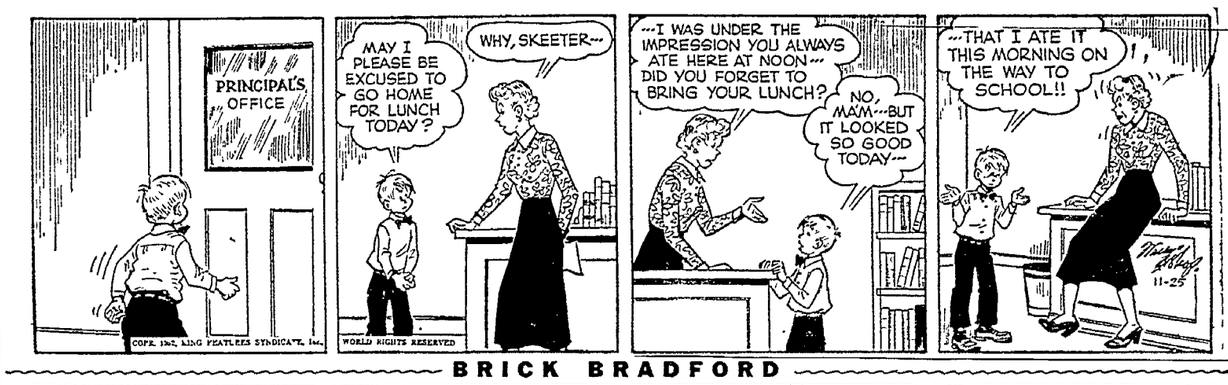

Yesterday's Cryptoquote: WE DO NOT WHAT WE OUGHT, WHAT WE OUGHT NOT, WE DO—ARNOLD.

Pottstown's Finest

Hope for the future lies in Pottstown's schools. The Mercury is publishing pictures of Pottstown's finest, the children in our schools. Every day a new room of school children will be shown here. Save the series, and enjoy them anew in future years.

President Homer Of Bethlehem Steel Confident on Business

Arthur B. Homer, president of Bethlehem Steel company, last last night expressed confidence his company has "what it takes—financially and otherwise—to ride through any downturn in business which the intermediate future might hold in store."

The Bethlehem president, who is connected with a former Pottstown family through marriage, said that "over the long term, steel will continue to be the backbone of an expanding and prosperous United States economy."

Addressing the Eastern Regional conference of the Financial Analysts societies in New York, he added Bethlehem's business should hold at good volume for "as far as we can see ahead."

"If the country were going to slip back to pre-war requirement and consumption levels," he explained, "present capacity might be out of line, but I doubt if any one here thinks that is going to happen."

HOMER'S WIFE, Sarah (Yocom) Homer, is a daughter of the late Lyman and Jennie (Mauger) Yocom who moved from Pottstown in the early 1900s.

Mrs. Homer was born in Reading and later moved with the family to Bethlehem. Her husband is a graduate of Lehigh university.

FAIR WEATHER —

spun busily as housewives tried to make up for the lost washing time while rain beat the area. Others who had hung clothing to dry days ago in water-logged basements brought them out into the sunlight to complete the drying.

But while Pottstonians were busy talking about how nice a day yesterday was, the weatherman was busy tracking down a resumption of the storm that blasted the area.

Ideal weather may continue throughout the morning and even the afternoon, but he predicts that clouds will gather rapidly during the day and that by nightfall occasional rain will annoy Pottstonians. He advises area residents not to hope for a change in the weather tomorrow.

State District Officer Airs Moose Benefits

Earl B. Bechtel, deputy supreme governor for Eastern Pennsylvania, was principal speaker at the meeting of Pottstown Lodge 369, Loyal Order of Moose, last night.

Bechtel spoke on the benefits of membership in the lodge and extension of the benefits to new members.

Governor Lester Boughter presided at the meeting in the lodge hall.

Plans for the Dec. 17 Children's Christmas party were discussed at the business session. The party will be for members' children, with reservations due before Dec. 8.

The lodge is also taking reservations now for the annual New Year's party for members and their wives. The party will include dancing and a floor show.

JOINTURE PLANS —

sented included North, South and East Coventry, East and West Nantmeal, West Vincent, Spring City and Warwick. Union township was the Berks county board present.

The meeting was the second for most of the boards. At the first meeting it was suggested to invite East and West Vincent, Spring City and East Coventry to participate in the discussions.

IT WAS FELT any jointure would have a more complete educational program if more boards participated.

Elverson, one of the original boards, and East Vincent were not present last night.

If the 11 boards form a jointure, there would be about 3000 children in the First to 12th grades in the jointure schools.

Any of the boards willing to gather more data on the jointure after discussion of the project next month will notify Clyde T. Saylor, Chester county schools superintendent, and he will arrange a meeting with one representative from each of the approving boards.

Air Reserve Accepts 2 Officers in Flight C

Two new officers were sworn in as members of Flight C, 9545th Volunteer Air Reserve Training unit in the American Legion home last night.

The new reservists are Lt. Robert A. Reis, 1200 High street; and Lt. Victor P. Harding, 79 West Fourth street.

Lt. Paul A. Chryst, flight adjutant, swore in the two men, who will have permanent reserve commissions.

Principal speaker at the meeting was Capt. Charles Bernhart. His talk was on the subject, "The Personnel Officer, His Duties and Responsibilities."

Major Elmer S. Friedberg, commanding officer of the unit, presided.

School Board to Air Plans for Expansion

Upper Pottsgrove school board will meet with the school authority tonight to discuss plans for the addition to the consolidated school.

Supervising Principal John B. Ferdinand told school board members last night pupils posted a 98 percent attendance for October.

The board approved minor supply purchases. President John W. Fadler presided at the brief meeting.

Other directors present were T. Ray Henry, William B. Fetterolf, Robert John and Harry W. Overholtzer.

New Plans Made for Streets

persons still are interested in new streets.

"I WOULDN'T WANT to use all that money. We should keep a little on reserve. I would recommend $120,000 to $125,000 in a revolving fund. Of course, all streets on this plan would be paved on a one-third basis (one-third costs shared by adjacent property owners and the borough)."

Marshall entered the conversation arena with a thump of his right fist on the table: "I'd like to see them run that damn thing (bond issue) next Spring at the primary election and then, if we lose, the only thing left will be to do as you say Wayne."

O'Dell asked, "On borrowing on a plan like this you'd have to pay more interest, wouldn't you?"

Solicitor C. Edmund Wells explained, "Not any more than on the defeated bond issue. And don't forget this if you borrow $120,000 it will amount to a $360,000 program because the borough's share is only one-third."

Gulden piped up, "That would handle about 12 blocks of streets."

Wells asserted, "if you want to, you can approve the revolving program and include it in any bond issue which might be passed later."

* * *

KOHLER EXPLAINED his negative vote, "I'm not in favor of the program the way it has been explained. If we'd borrow $140,000 I'm afraid it soon would be dissipated away. I think we should take it out of the general fund."

Wells interjected, "Have you got your magician's wand with you or money in your hat?"

Kohler asserted, "I think the other amounts in the budget should be dispensed with."

Wells shot back, "What's the sense of talking economy? It sounds good politically. But you know you can't cut the budget. You pick out one place in the budget where we can cut."

Knause cut in, "Where are you going to cut? Are you going to take money away from the police, the highway or fire budgets? The police department is adding police women for the protection of children at crossings and the fire departments want budget increases for the next year.

O'DELL SAID, "I'll tell you where you can save $50,000. You can make the public pay for garbage collections."

Wells defended the present system of collections. He said, "The present system for garbage collections is in the long run the most efficient and most economical."

Ruyak demanded action on a hazardous condition at an entrance to the Levitz Furniture company warehouse off South Franklin street across from New street.

Both the highway and police committees previously voted the Levitz firm should bear all costs of fixing the condition which exists on the firm property.

Wells explained there's an ordinance which prohibits vehicles from running onto sidewalks. He explained, "We can stop this action by sharpening the ordinance. When a trucker making an approach to Levitz violates the ordinance, the property owner can swear out a warrant. The police then will arrest the truck driver."

Ruyak explained one truck recently passed within six inches of a homeowner's window.

ZAWASKI SAID, "Somebody is going to get hurt if something isn't done down there."

Wells asserted, "When borough industries use a place for commercial purposes they arrange it so it doesn't cause injury to private property owners. Levitz should do the same thing."

Levitz previously offered to pay half the costs.

Ruyak asked Wells why a section of Mervine street has not been ordained and why water lines can go in a street which is not ordained and a sewer line cannot be installed in the same street.

Wells said the titles of all properties along the street must be searched before the borough can ordain it. Sewer lines can be installed because the borough does not have the right to assess property owners for work on a street which is not ordained.

Knights of Columbus To Hear Address by Hospital Chaplain

Lt. Col. Maurice Powers, Valley Forge Army hospital chaplain, will address Father Bally Council 1192, Knights of Columbus, at the council's dinner meeting Dec. 29 in the Maria Assunta club.

Alfred Yannessa, program chairman of the meeting, disclosed the speaker's identity at the council's November meeting last night which 75 members attended.

John Katona, past grand knight of the council, won a new Catholic quiz conducted among the membership by the Rev. William M. Begley, rector of St. Aloysius church and council chaplain. The questions dealt with Catholic doctrine and dogma.

Harry Schaeffer, the council's house committee chairman, announced the council home will be open Saturday instead of Friday nights for dancing by Catholic teen-agers and their friends. The King's Men will play.

THE COUNCIL will sponsor a Thanksgiving eve dance in St. Peter's Catholic church hall tomorrow night and council members will participate in a corporate Communion at the 7:30 a. m. mass in St. Peter's Sunday.

The earliest records of the game of polo are Persian.

Watch Is Admired

Fine gifts for the man in your life range from the handsome gold ring for his little finger to the beautiful watch being admired in the picture above. Others shown are gold cuff links of modern style, the clasp designed for the narrower ties, as recommend by the Jewelry Industry council.

New Fashion Trends That Affect Men's Jewelry Afford Opportunities

The new fashion trends affecting men's jewelry afford an opportunity this year for selecting fine Christmas gifts for "him" that will be especially appreciated because they will bring him up to date.

The slender silhouette in men's wear, exemplified not only by the construction of suits, but even more markedly in the design of ties, is point in hand.

Ties are much narrower which means that the well dressed man is going to need a narrower tie bar to match.

Similarly the new round collar pin complements the new men's styles. Designers have come up with matching pins for the tie in modified safety pin style.

The return to the more conservative plain or small figured ties has been echoed in the single-pearl with clip-on-back type of tie pin which can be worn low where the tie holder is normally worn, or up at the collar where the stick pin is usually placed.

CUFF LINKS today include colored stones caged in gold and also interesting sports models. The trend is toward personalized matched sets.

Today's matched sets can include not only tie and collar accessories and cuff links, but also belt buckles, money clips and key chains. Available in either gold filled or sterling they lend themselves to monogramming for the personalized touch.

While these things indicate the effect of fashion on jewelry for men, remember the list from which to choose a gift for him is much broader.

Choose jewelry for Christmas from among the following for the man in your life.

WRIST WATCH in either business or sports model.

Pocket Watch for evening and formal wear.

A Ring, of the signet variety, with his lodge or military service emblem, or with his birthstone.

Identification bracelet, in silver or gold, as an increasingly popular item for men.

Collar pin, tie pin, scarf pin, cuff links, as individual items or as a set.

Practical Gift for Men Are Storm Overcoats

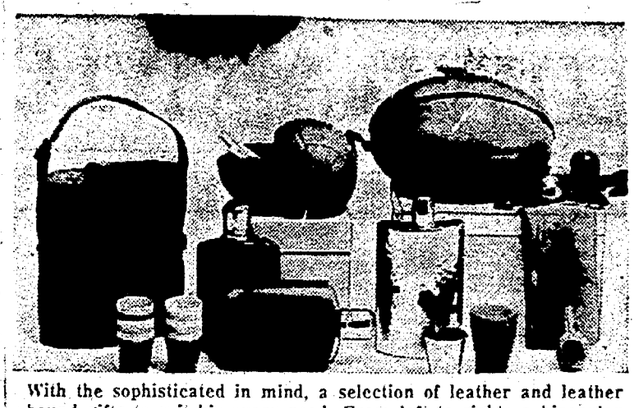

Don't forget overcoats for giving to men, especially the immensely practical and wearable storm coat with its big collar, its water resistant fabric and its huge roomy pockets. Something wearable to make a man feel his most masculine.

Remember men also need a raincoat. These may be had in plastic material which can be rolled into so small a package it can be carried in the pocket. Or choose one of the very military look styles.

SHE WILL THANK YOU

A gift your hostess will accept with many thanks—just a film of an apron made of gauzy nylon net to protect her dress without concealing same.

Selection of Leather

With the sophisticated in mind, a selection of leather and leather bound gifts to suit his every need. From left to right: a binocular shape double flask with plastic drinking cups; a pigskin basketball to hold cigarettes and a football shape humidor by Behrman. Next, a pocket size aluminum flask with a leather-bound cup case by Ascot and a leather covered pipe with pouch to match by Progressive.

SANTA IS HERE AGAIN TO OPEN YULE SEASON

No Shortages to Plague Old St. Nick as Gifts Abound in Stores

ARMY OF HELPERS MAKE READY COLORFUL DISPLAYS

THAT MAN IS HERE AGAIN—early this year—to take personal charge of the formal opening of this year's Christmas season. Old St. Nick came sledding into town during the wee hours of the night, his ruddy face shining with a wonderful smile of self confidence.

For this year, no longer plagued by shortages which so unfortunately hampered the abundance of his gift pack during too many recent years, he has brought the biggest and most varied and most exciting collection of gifts in all his experience.

A veritable army of eager helpers has been working to unload his tremendous cargo of brilliant gifts, and to spread them over shelves and counters of the stores by tomorrow.

A prevue of some of the wonderful things in his new collection is presented in the pages of this special section. Many more interesting gifts will sparkle from brightly lighted windows downtown tonight.

And the full line-up of the gifts he's recommending for giving to men and women and boys and girls this year, will be on display tomorrow against a festive background of Yule decorations in all the leading stores in town.

SANTA CLAUS himself plans to be on hand in as many places as possible during most of the day, especially for the purpose of greeting the children.

To them, and to everyone, he broadcasts an invitation to come downtown for a grand tour of the shops—to see the brilliant array of presents.

Old St. Nick took time out before retiring for a brief rest early this morning, to remind folks that he has come to town this far in advance of Christmas Day, especially for the purpose of helping every one to get an early start on their Christmas shopping.

"You'll enjoy Christmas that much more yourself," he said, "if you start your gift shopping early. You'll also make it a happier Christmas for your loved ones.

"By starting early you avoid fatiguing last minute rushes; you are able to make your gift selections leisurely; you have a better chance to complete your shopping in plenty of time to be fresh as a daisy yourself, on Christmas Day."

IT IS the wide assortment of long lasting gifts—gifts that keep on giving for months and even years after Christmas Day—that is the outstanding feature of the Yule selection for this year. Even Toyland is geared to this wonderful principle.

Toys being featured for this Christmas have their inspiration in the very psychology of children themselves. And as a result they teach while they satisfy and actually stimulate the play instincts of the younger set. Dolls, being shown in an amazing variety of personalities, are almost human and will bring much joy to "little mothers."

The home ranks especially high as a focal point for gift giving this year with the resurgence of the more integrated social life of the modern family.

The scope of the gift giving opportunity here ranges from the personal gift to the gift that all can enjoy. Take Television, for example, which would be a superb gift from dad to the family.

OR CONSIDER furniture for mother, or a modern, more efficient refrigerator with which to replace the one that has already given decades of service.

Fashion, with its capacity for helping to put glamour into every one's life, and with its ability to greatly enhance one's self confidence, has broadened the gift giving opportunities for men as well as women and boys as well as girls. Christmas will not be complete this year unless there is an important gift of something to wear.

Even in the realm of jewelry where normally one pauses to think in terms of budget, gift giving opportunities appear actually to help take the strain off one's Christmas purse. Something precious is to be chosen from this group of gifts commensurate in cost with the importance with which you want to endow the gift.

BRACELETS ARE GIFTS

For sheer feminine excitement, give her an armful of bangle bracelets. Wonderful replicas of old fashioned bracelets done in gilt and black enamel as well as charming single bangles ornamented with simulated pearls are just about everywhere—at tiny prices.

DON'T FORGET

Avoid forgetting someone during the last minute gift shopping rush, by doing your Christmas gifts shopping early.

Monograms Take Time; Shop Earlier To Have This Done

Planning on having some of your gifts intimately personalized by monogramming before they are presented for Christmas?

Then it is very important that you make your choice early and give your instructions promptly.

Though much progress has been made in speeding the art of monogramming, many other people will want it done too. And those who place their orders for it first will, of course, get their work done soonest.

Allow yourself plenty of time and avoid last minute rushes.

MONOGRAMMING CAN Be had for almost every type of gift you can think of, from stationery to shirts, from lingerie to luggage.

Jewelry as a gift, is hardly complete without an engraved legend or initials of the recipient.

But remember, this extra work takes time.

KIT IS PRACTICAL

A "make-it-yourself" school kit is a practical gift and one school age youngsters want to receive. A handy narrow box containing pencils, pens, pen points, eraser, clips, ruler and pencil sharpener is easy and inexpensive to get together, but the young student will use it every day on the school calendar.

Best Is Deserved By Working Girl; Glamor Gifts Liked

The career girl is a very special case when it comes to selecting Christmas gifts for her. She's generally a thrifty-minded gal with an eye to the practical. But don't think for a moment that she is not as thoroughly feminine as the gal who hasn't a job.

Therefore, though you can't go wrong by thinking in terms of gifts that will make her work a little easier, such as pen and pencil sets, a really sturdy bag to be carried on business, a tiny sewing kit to keep in her desk for quick repair of tears and rips.

But remember, she wants glamour, too.

This is why cosmetics, compacts, gay accessories, such as scarfs, brightly colored handkerchiefs, fine hosiery and good jewelry always are of interest to her.

Remember the career girl who has a job as distinguished from being in business for herself, has very little time in which to do her own shopping. One of the cardinal principles of choosing fitting gifts for her, therefore, is to choose something she might not have time to choose for herself.

And if you're her boss, chances are the more practical you are about the choice of your gift for her the better she will like it.

GIVE EXOTIC FOODS

A gift in keeping with the hospitable spirit of the season is a box filled with exotic foods in cans and jars. A box of this type could include cavier, brandied fruit, anchovy stuffed olives and even a can of artichokes or truffles.

NOTICE HER ANKLES

A personal gift thought for a favorite Christmas angel is an ankle bracelet with a brief message from him to her or her name inscribed on its plate.

Look at That Grin

His biggest Christmas thrill to date can come this Christmas if his most important gift is to be his first bike. Children are ready for them earlier now with models for the youngest equipped with extra demountable wheels to help them learn the instructive and healthful art of balance safely. Girls too yearn for bikes.

Wide-Eyed Youngsters Will Thrill To New, Shiny 1953 Model Bikes

A lot of wide-eyed youngsters will find the thrilling answer to all their prayers on Christmas morning, when they take a first anxious look at the gifts crowded around the family tree and see a shiny new bike.

If it is one of the new 1953 models being introduced just in time for Christmas giving this year, that may have been chosen to replace one a youngster has outgrown, chances are dad and mom will rank as unsurpassable heroes.

If its a first bike for a little fellow, or even a little girl, parents will be doubly rewarded, for there are none who long more for the new, sleek bicycles than the children who have at last grown up to owning one.

And best of all, the younger ones need not wait too long any more for their first bikes, because those designed for first-timers may be had with extra demountable wheels which keep them in balance until they have managed to learn how to handle themselves on a two-wheeler.

THE NEW 1953 bikes are as bright and shiny and up to date as the new 1953 automobiles. And the choice of models and equipment is just about as varied.

There are sturdy balloon tired bikes made for going to school, running errands, delivering papers, and just having fun. There are American lightweights with gear shifts for those who live in hilly country. There are even folding bikes.

And here's a tip to parents planning on getting bikes for their kids for Christmas. It's not necessary to have the child along with you when you go bike shopping.

You can chose the one to fit from four basic sizes. And all have adjustable seats and handlebars to allow for growth. Thus the Christmas Bike can be a complete surprise.

GIVE HER CAP

Here's a gay surprise for her Christmas tree. Give her a perky novelty visor cap she can wear with her storm coat, ski togs or other sports apparel.

ANTIQUE JEWELRY FOR CHRISTMAS

Good jewelry is a pleasure to own and is always in good taste. Fashions do not change in hand-made jewelry — made to last. We would like to show you a garnet necklace, a garnet pin and earrings, deep color amethyst ring, amethyst earrings, and pieces of topaz jewelry. Do come in—

Gift Certificates Are Big Answer

So you are perplexed about what to give the grown boy or girl, or even mother, as a major gift for this Christmas?

The problem is not nearly as difficult as you may think. For once you've acquired the several knick knacks you know you can choose safely for them yourself, there is a wonderful way to make sure they get exactly what they want—by giving them a gift certificate.

Most stores issue gifts certificates in any amount you want or for any specific piece of merchandise you may have in mind.

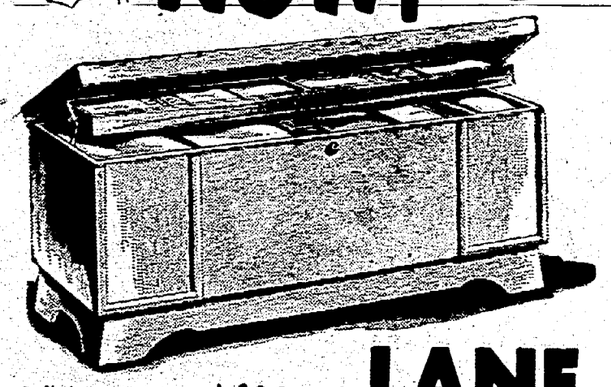

The nicest thing about gift certificates for the young folks, and especially those who are learning how to handle their own money, is that it gives them a chance to do their own choosing.

THE NICE thing about gift certificates as far as mother is concerned, is that they make it possible for her to exercise her own individual tastes in colors and fashion without the danger of return.

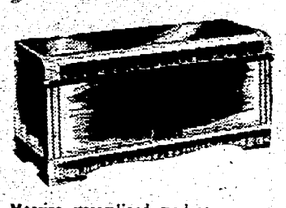

And for men too, they make excellent gifts because then you don't have size to worry about. You can actually buy a hat for a man for Christmas this way.

Stockings Admired

Gifts of hosiery for her are as basic as is the Christmas tie for him. But choose generously when choosing hose. Choose the loveliest, the sheerest, the most frivolous, so long as you get the right size and the right color. Pictured with admiration are a pair of Van Raalte's 51 guage, 15 denier Frivol nylons with dainty lace designs in the welt.

Gifts of Learning Will Please Child

The school child will find years of pleasure and information in an encyclopedia or reference book set edited for his age group. For the very young, there are sets full of large pictures and easy-to-read print.

The grammar-grader will enjoy a simplified edition, while high school and college students will benefit from a regular edition that will serve them for a lifetime.

Hat Becomes Good Gift Item for Men

The hat too has become a good gift item for men, ever since the introduction of the special gifts certificate for men's hats. Here's a gift that gives twice.

The certificate itself comes usually with a replica of a hat, or in the shape of some gadget which can be used as a tray for small things, or for ashes. He uses the certificate to choose the hat he wants and the one that fits.

Stay-at-Home Togs Are Welcome Gifts At Christmas Time

Because, more than ever, this year, her schedule will be busied with the TV parties, Canasta luncheon group, friends in for quiet conversation and family gatherings that comprise living at-home, she'll want a wardrobe to complement those occasions.

And what better time, than Chrismas, the most wonderful at-home season of the year, to give her an important addition or an entire wardrobe of at-home clothes.

There are her at-home separates, for example, that pair off with one another in any number of different ways. The sweaters, blouses, slacks and skirts that complete this wardrobe, given either as a group or individually, make a gift she's sure to welcome.

A gift of an entire wardrobe of separates could consist of a pair of slim tapered velvet slacks with a white blouse and a luxurious short sleeved cashmere pullover sweater. To assure variety, a wide contrasting cummerbund, and, perhaps a close-fitting vestee would complete this ensemble.

AN IMPORTANT individual gift, for her wardrobe of at-home separates, is a street length whirl skirt in a bright color, or a jewel lavished sweater she can wear, also, on accasions, other than those at-home.

Lounging pajama ensembles, housecoats and brunch coats also make good gift additions to her at-home wardrobe.

Pajama sets can be had in casual or dress-up fabrics like deep piled velvet or gold threaded weaves. Some are designed to double for sleeping and entertaining and come with a contrasting coat that can be worn alone.

Also presenting a large variety for choice are housecoats and brunch coats. The housecoats are fashioned in everything from elegant velvets and satins to cheery printed cottons. And the brunch coats may be had in snug quilted styles as well as cottons and corduroys that can be worn shopping as well as at home.

GIVE SCULPTURE

Sculpture for the home makes a distinctive gift long appreciated for its beauty.

More Families Make Plans for Decoration, Illumination Outside

The most brilliantly illuminated Yuletide in all history appears to be in the making this Christmas as more families make plans for festive decoration and illumination of the exterior as well as the interior of their homes.

Whole neighborhoods and in many instances whole communities will sparkle through the season from Christmas to New Years with gaily arranged lights that twinkle a colorful message of good cheer.

Planning exterior Yuletide lighting requires no special professional skill though some people will want to see it. Most home owners prefer to design their own from strings of colored lights generally arranged to follow basic outlines of the house for a Christmas card effect.

Others extend their scheme of illumination to trees and hedges on their property. Spotlights and floodlights directed at wreaths on doors or toward special decorations, add beauty. There are other devices on the market specially designed for home owners to use in exterior Yuletide decorations, from which to choose.

FREQUENTLY INTERIOR LIGHTING can serve to enhance the exterior display. The fully dressed Christmas tree placed near a window contributes much to the scene. Electric candles hanging with wreaths, also in windows, will help.

Most important factor however in exterior illumination of the home for Christmas is choice of wiring and bulbs. Make sure both are made for this purporse. Indoor lights should never be used outdoors. A short circuit may be caused by wet weather.

Wattage of outdoor Christmas lights usually run higher than those of the indoor variety and it is recommended no more than 50 lamps be connected to a single outlet. New type sets are equipped with safety fuse plugs which prevent overloads.

TOP BILLING IS GIVEN TO TOYS THAT INSTRUCT

Price Level Below Past Year Is Good News For Parents

WESTERN, MAKE-BELIEVE ITEMS SHOW RECORD RISE

Santa is career minded this Christmas. His 1952 pack will set an all-time record in varied toy designs to meet the essential play needs of America's bumper child population of 45,000,000, including 62 percent more youngsters under five than in 1940.

Star billing will go to purposeful toys designed to develop children's aptitudes and help them prepare for a wide variety of useful professions, according to the American Toy Institute.

Good news for assistant Santas is the fact that the general price level of 1952 toys is a little below or the same as last year's with emphasis on new design and construction that give extra play value and quality.

Juvenile enthusiasm for Wild West play continues strong in the make-believe category with Indian regalia showing a record rise. There is an increased variety of space toys inspired by televisi and cartoons; juvenile interest in our country's defense activities evidenced by a variety of uniforms and miniatures of the latest military equipment.

CHILDREN'S NEW interest in collecting authentic miniatures of antiques in vehicles and furniture is evidenced in a variety of lines including scale model Prairie Schooners, early model motor cars and coal stoves. There are a record number of toys inspired by circus and carnival activities.

New playthings that will give youngsters a chance for purposeful accomplishment in a wide variety of careers include junior grade bulldozers and bucket loaders that do an efficient road building job, a chromium switchboard that rings and buzzes as lines are plugged in, cars with mechanics kits that do a competent tire changing job, a small size atomic energy spinthariscope in which disintegration of atomic particles can be viewed racing at speeds of more than 10,000 miles a second.

There's beauty parlor equipment for ambitious little girls who yearn to be proficient in the arts of hairstyling, and a barber-shoeshine kit for boys. Small fry interior decorators will be intrigued by a new three dimensional doll house kit and garage which comes ready to assemble, color and furnish with furniture, wall paper, dolls and household pets.

NEW ARRIVALS in career toys include a Junior stewardess set and a postman kit complete with mail box, mail pouch and mailman's cap.

New thrills for young architects include modernistic interlocking woodenblocks for constructing the U. N. building and other streamlined designs. Heavy durable stone composition is used for another type of architects' building blocks which make it easy for children to build realistic skyscrapers and public buildings.

A new set of plastic blocks includes windows and doors that open and shut as a new realistic detail. The Western play interest is reported to have stimulated interest in log building sets.

There is a marked trend to adapt classic play activities of school age youngsters to meet the capabilities of younger children. Even youngsters of playpen age can make realistic houses with a new kind of nesting block.

SMALL FRY can play zoo keeper with a novel set of zoo blocks packed so that the animals peer through cages. There are a variety of new games that cater to youngsters who have not learned to figure.

A new chemical set makes possible a variety of experiments without the use of heat.

For the pre-school set there are variations of the classic peg-pounding-board that include tool boxes with miniature tools of sturdy hardwood, colored wooden screws and bolts.

The fascination of different combinations of gears also has been adapted to the play abilities of the two to four age group. Bright colored plastic is used for the pegs and gears.

Small Fry Enjoy Games

Small fry like to take part too, in competition usually enjoyed by grownups. That's why carefull chosen games make such popular and successful Christmas gifts for children, says the America ...y institute. These youngsters are playing with a Skatterbug set, especially appealing to pr... schoolers. Itis by Parker.

Something in Fur Will Fill Christmas List

A woman's major weakness is fur!

This is a handy piece of information to have around at Christmas time for you can thrill her ladyship with an opulent fur accessory at a very minor price.

Select a muff to keep her fingertips warm, a stole to toss about her shoulders, a belt to cinch in her tiny waist, a calot to enhance her crowning glory.

All these and more, such as fur trimmed gloves and handbags, are offered in the season's most desired furs and styles.

Extra Gifts Costing Little Are Good to Fill Up Her Stocking

Make it a Christmas of plenty for her this year by filling her stocking with pin money gifts, once you've wrapped and placed her major present under the tree.

There are scads of things to choose from to make her visit from Santa a seemingly endless succession of surprises, and each need cost very little.

For example, think of some of the things she carries in her handbag; a lipstick case; a coin purse; a tiny pill box; handkerchiefs; a cigaret holder; a comb; a mirror.

For example, think of her passion for the fastidious: bath powders, perhaps of the bubble type; scented soaps; a prettily packaged bottle of her favorite nail polish or face powder or rouge.

Way Can Be Lighted To Reading Comfort

Make this Christmas a bright ...ift and one that can be enjoyed ... and relatives who enjoy doing their ...65 nights a year. Also, under the heading of "brighter reading" is the very small lamp that clips right to the book.

Children Are Railroaders

Much new has been added to "railroading" for Christmas giving this year, witness the fascination of these youngsters viewing the new double decker "Astra Dome" car, replica of novel luxury cross country equipment, a trackside barrel loader which works by remote control, new wrecker car and signal towers, among other things. These are by Lionel

Fun on Christmas Is Aided by Fooling On Size of Packages

Some sage has said that the best things in life come in small packages.

Certainly you can cram a lot of giving into a tiny box if the gift happens to be a diamond ring or a fine watch.

But this doesn't rule out the fact that something as big as a refrigerator, or a television set, or a big handsome chair for dad, or a new pair of twin beds for mother, may be the best things in life for giving this Christmas.

And under normal circumstances, they make mighty big packages

YET THERE'S no reason why you can't fix them up so that they may be put into packages—symbolically, we mean—small enough to be hung on the family tree.

Here's how. Just go to the toy department of your favorite store and choose a toy sized replica of the great big "best" gift you are giving, have it handsomely packaged, insert an appropriate card, and hang it on the tree.

SWEATERS DESIGNED

There's a sweater designed to meet the individual requirements of each member of the family. Gay outdoor ski-type sweaters for the youngsters, a bead embroidered evening sweater for mom or that special girl, and a sleeveless pullover sweater for him, all make welcome gifts.

SHAWLS ARE WARM

A warm woolly shawl, in sparkling white or a pretty pastel, makes a glamorous gift at Christmas.

Home Furnishings Are Best Bet as Gifts To Married Friends

Ever stop to take a count of the number of young relatives and close friends who have been married recently or are engaged to be married soon. You may surprise yourself with the total and you certainly will find a wonderful clue to what to give them for Christmas when you stop to think about it

More than anything else they will want things for their home. This is as true of the young marrieds who have been that way long enough to have babies as it is of those who have just set the date.

To completely furnish a home, as everyone knows takes years. Christmas is a wonderful opportunity for gift givers to help.

True, things for the home can run into budget straining figures if something big and important is planned, but this can be handled easily too. Friends and relatives can club together to give one superb important gift.

ON THE other hand there are so many furnishings and decorations newlyweds need, the gift expenditure can easily be modest enough for almost any budget Take pottery for example, trays, bowl table lighters, magazine racks, nest of tables, initialed towels, picture frames, lamps, all of which make fine gifts.

If you want to be more generous consider place settings of silver to match what they have or want; a love seat, or maybe a table top television set.

SHOP EARLY

Avoid forgetting someone during the last minute gift shopping rush, by doing your Christmas gifts shopping early

Colorful Wrappings Help to Brighten Christmas Gifts to Friends, Relatives

Be the gift humbly practical, expensively precious or modestly whimsical; be it for friend, relative or for the home, you can endow every one with an extra quality of gaiety and warmth by the manner in which you present it.

The secret is in the way you choose and use the colorful wrappings, the great variety of tie-on devices, the engraved seals, and the brilliant ribbons that are available in the stores to help you decorate the packages.

In jolly traditional Christmas mood, green and red and white can be combined to complement the colors of the Christmas tree. For the gift to the sophisticate there are wrappings to be found in stark black and white; deep blue and silver, copper and brown, gold and white.

For the children there are papers imprinted with Santa and his reindeer, and for them and older folks who are young of heart, there are gaily striped papers that take their decorative motifs from Christmas candy canes.

* * *

TIE-ONS which do so much toward embellishing again and in many instances can be used later as lapel pins, are much in favor. They include Santa Claus heads, wreathes, bells, snow balls and holly berries.

New also are gilded holly sprays, plastic clowns, comets, stars and jewel-like decorations, and of course Candy Cane tie-ons for the children.

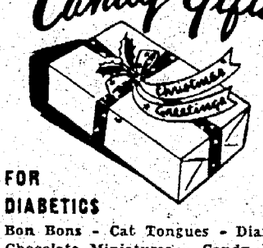

Be lavish with ribbon, using extra wide or tailored widths. Try long streamers to decorate packages for women and narrow strips or ribbon for the ones going to the men.

For extra special brilliant effects the metallic papers in vibrant solid colors such as the striking aluminum foil are recommended.

CRUSH THE ICE

An ice crusher makes an excellent gift for the one with an eye toward elegant serving. Easy to operate and inexpensive.

TOYS SHOWING INFLUENCE OF ANTIQUE TREND

Authentic Reproductions Of Early Furniture, Autos Featured

Another marked trend in the 1952 toy showing is the wide variety of new toys which are authentic reproductions of early American transportation models, early automobile and antique furniture.

One new kit comes in a box that simulates a frontier town street with general store, etc. and includes a prarie schooner and a frontier style coach with rounded bottoms so that they could ford deep streams and a Springfield freighter.

There's a new kit for building a ranch buggy that's easy enough for a five year old to achieve scale-model-building with honors.

Authentic models of the early Fords, the Stanley steamer, the surrey with the fringed top and the hansom cab are some of the new styles in collectors' items for juvenile connoisseurs. There's a complete bedroom set in early Colonial style with a mahogany tester bed complete with an heir loom-style quilt.

A MINIATURE 19th century Pennsylvania Dutch style wardrobe is used to house a new set of fashionable paper dolls that have costumes made of a new kind of plastic-coated paper which can be sewed as well as washed in warm water for extra play value.

There's a marked increase in the variety of kits which will permit Junior and his sister to make useful articles for the household and do an efficient job of cooking with junior kitchen equipment.

Here's Goods for Kitchen

Self-timing toaster, sleek with the appearance of hansome silver, is an admirable gift for the young couple and the older one, too. This one by Knapp-Monarch. Versatile food mixers to make kitchen work so much easier may be had for giving with a variety of fitting to do every job better. This one is by Westinghouse

Hobby of Collector Is Guide to Present

Is someone on your list a collector of fine china, miniature figurines or perhaps period dolls that date back to olden days? Then you have an excellent clue to the way to make anyone of them happy, for the collector appreciates nothing more than a gift to be added to her collection.

Some folks specialize in animals, such as dogs, elephants, birds, and some are collectors of colorful sea shells. It's worth the effort to check through the stores for the specific item that will make them happy.

GIVE A COOK BOOK

Pamper her pleasure in exotic cookery with a cookbook that provides recipes for wine, herb, casserole, new foreign dishes or whatever her favorite way of preparing meals may be.

GLARE ELIMINATED

Goggles to eliminate glare, snug-fitting, warm mittens, ski poles to lend a helping hand through deep drifts and up steep climbs, are just a few of the gifts for the ski enthusiasts in your crowd.

Light Welcome

Illuminate Yule welcome with inexpensive decorations that can be hung on the door of the home. This snow man is made of light weight plastic. It is by Noma.

GIVE A VACATION

The grandest surprise of all from dad to mom could be the discovery of tickets for a long dreamed-of cruise or trip cross-country in her Christmas stocking.

Guest Is Perfect If He Repays Host With Useful Present

The perfect guest uses the guest towels, and sends them to her hostess, too, colorfully tucked in their own plastic boxes. Fragrant soaps, boxes of powder puffs and pretty tissue dispensers for the guest lavatory will please the lady of the house.

Help her to easier living, too this Christmas, with a gift of a revolving Lazy Susan to simplify buffet suppers, multi-purpose casseroles and serving dishes, large trays, or a stack of handy little lap trays.

Other useful gifts may be roomy boxes, comfortable triangular pillows for reading or breakfast in bed, quaint footstools, attractive vases or bookends to suit her livingroom decor, handsome waste baskets, desk filers and appointment calendars.

VARIETY BROADER

All in all it appears that Santa's toy pack will be crammed full of exciting playthings for children of all ages and interests. Melvin Freud, president of Toy Guidance council, reported that "the variety of play equipment is broader this year than ever in the past, and that quality of America's playthings for 1952 has never been higher."

GLAMOR TOUCH FOR HER GIFTS MATCH SEASON

Presents Will Flatter Her Femininity, Give Pleasure

Playing Santa to a certain charming Miss or Mrs. this Christmas? Then take a tip from old Kris Kringle himself and give her something to flatter her femininity and give her pleasure the moment she discovers it Christmas Day and each time she uses or wears it for long after.

The choice of a long-term glamour gift is especially easy, this year, be it an ethereally lovely negligee or a perky little apron For new designs, new materia' and new ideas that have emanate from her special way of living ar now interpreted into gifts that can be had at costs comfortably in keeping with every budget.

Take lingerie, for example. The most lavish gowns, negligees, peignoirs and slips that are sheer and possibly pleated all-around, now call for only a minimum of upkeep to retain their glamorous beauty.

For those cozy at-home hours, either entertaining or alone with the family, there are dresses, and trouser and top ensembles, so deftly designed, the dresses can also be worn for shopping or even visiting and the ensembles can, in many instances, be used for year 'round entertaining.

BE THERE ever a woman who can't use "just one more" skirt, blouse or sweater? And to cater to her desire for something new and flattering, skirts are prettily pleated, gored and stitched.

Blouses are made to be worn every month of the year. And sweaters are bright in color with many styles adorned with the glitter of beads, sequins and embroidery so in keeping with the gala spirit of the season.

If she's the outdoor type, or even if she confines her outdoor activities to commuting or tending the baby, an especially welcome and handsome gift is one adaptable to her pursuits outside the house.

This could take shape as a snug stormcoat or a distinctive raincoat. Selected in a color most complimentary to her own tastes, either coat type is bound to be a gift she'll appreciate at first glance and for long after in the actual wearing.

Also a good possibility in gifts of outdoor togs, are ski clothes and umbrellas. As well as being just what the skier wants, ski outfits are good looking and snug for ks outdoors on the coldest and owiest of Winter days. And practical umbrellas can become exciting fashion accessories if selected in a gay design and color.

It's the "little gifts" that help make her Christmas the great big wonderful holiday it is, especially if those "little gifts" are selected to hold the same lastingly glamorous appeal as larger size gift offerings. Cosmetics, hand bags, slippers, hankies and aprons, they all play an important part in the season's joy.

Build Houses With Kit

Realistic brick and mortar kit for permanent or temporary construction at the will of the lad lucky enough to get one this Christmas, expect to be a winner. Only adhesive needed besides mortar is Borden's Glue All, used in window and roof construction.

Gift of Music Good for Children; Interest in Instruments Increasing

The considerable growth of interest among children in learning how to play orchestral and band instruments opens the way for many parents to give their children a Christmas gift that in addition to being received with joy will stimulate the youngsters' delight in musical self expression.

The gift, of course, would be a musical instrument in which the child may have shown special interest. It might be one of the stringed instruments, a woodwind, one of the brasses or a percussion instrument.

Parents can get help in choosing the right instrument for the child from his school music instructor, who will no doubt verify their own judgment as to which type of instrument it should be.

The growing interest of children in learning to play musical instruments is credited in part to modern methods of teaching in th schools and perhaps even in large. measure to the growth of school bands and orchestras and the parts they are playing in the social life of the students.

The day has long passed when a lad who shows a lively interest in musical accomplishment was referred to as a sissy. Now, as a candidate for the school orchestra or band, he gains in popularity among his school mates in direct relation to his ability to win a place in one of the groups.

Car Key Wrapping Makes a Surprise

Then plan to make it the biggest surprise of day, by putting it into the smallest package under your tree.

You can actually make the package so tiny that it can be hung on the very end of a branch. Here's how:

Useful Little Presents Are Given From One Woman to Another

"From one woman to another" come the wonderfully useful little gifts that help so tangibly in making a house a home. Here are some gift ideas to help women solve the gift problem for their holiday hostesses, neighbors and friends.

All are small, inexpensive, yet as practical as a woman could want to add the gracious touches of livability to her home.

The good housekeeper dotes on storage space for the safekeeping of her wardrobe, linens, and out-of-season clothes. She'll love a gift of accessories that make her closets twice as useful, and so very pretty, such as clothes and shoe bags, plastic shelf liners with gay trim, and padded hanger sets that can be bought separately or in matching sets.

Choose them in soft floral prints or striking stripes or plaids for a crisp, fresh look.

USEFUL EXTRAS, such as clothing bars to hang on the backs of closet doors, or multiple blouse and skirt hangers will give her closet space she never dreamed was available.

Plastic bags have many other uses, too. Zippered cases store blankets, linens, blouses, sweaters and lingerie. Plastic laundry cases double as dampening-bags that keep garments uniformly moist before ironing. Refrigerator sets, in gay colors and designs, are handy for covering bowls and jars, and keeping vegetables fresh.

Choose linens, the gift every woman values, with an eye to her bedroom color scheme, for the newest look in sheets and pillow cases is color.

Peals of Joy for Mother

A bigger, better, more efficient new electrical refrigerator for mother this Christmas could be the gift that would bring her most appreciative peals of joy. New ones with greater food storage capacity, sub zero freezers, virtual elimination of bothersome defrosting problems, temperature control are in her dreams. Make the dreams come true. Picture making mother so happy is an Admiral.

Designer Creates New Batch of Cards

AP NEWSFEATURES

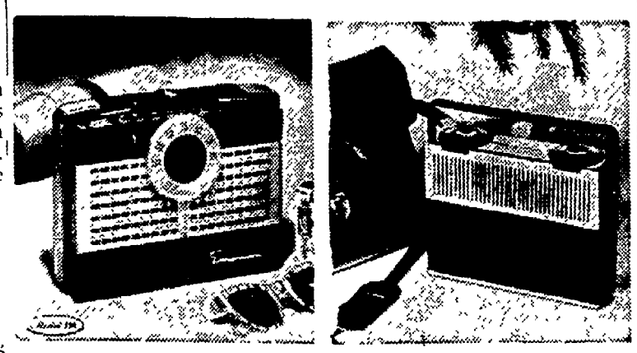

Marjorie Cooper, well-known designer of cherubs on Christmas cards, has created a fine new batch of cards, ideal for stocking stuffers.

Her "New Mother" notes are handy little note papers portrayin busy scenes from a new mother life and in each of these mothe seem to speak up and say "Ju Time for a Line" or "Sorry couldn't get a baby sitter." The cards illustrate a little moth changing baby's diapers or holding him at the stove, talking on the telephone while baby yowls, or holding him in one arm and a basket of wash in the other.

They also can be used for thank-you notes or just plain baby talk.

For the hospitalized, Miss Cooper has illustrated in a humorous vein.

Tune in on Christmas

The portable radio, self powered with extra life batteries, small as a book and almost as light in weight, rises to a new high level of popularity for Christmas giving. Designs are handsomer than ever this year. This is an Emerson. With carrying case of leather, this portable radio looks and handles like a small camera, and will be carried that way, too, by the ones lucky to get it for Christmas. This is the Escort model by Motorola.

Young Ones Can Help With Mixing Cookies

Have plenty of cookies on hand this holiday time for all ages. Let the young members of the family help with the mixing and decorating, and hang some of their masterpieces on the Christmas tree.

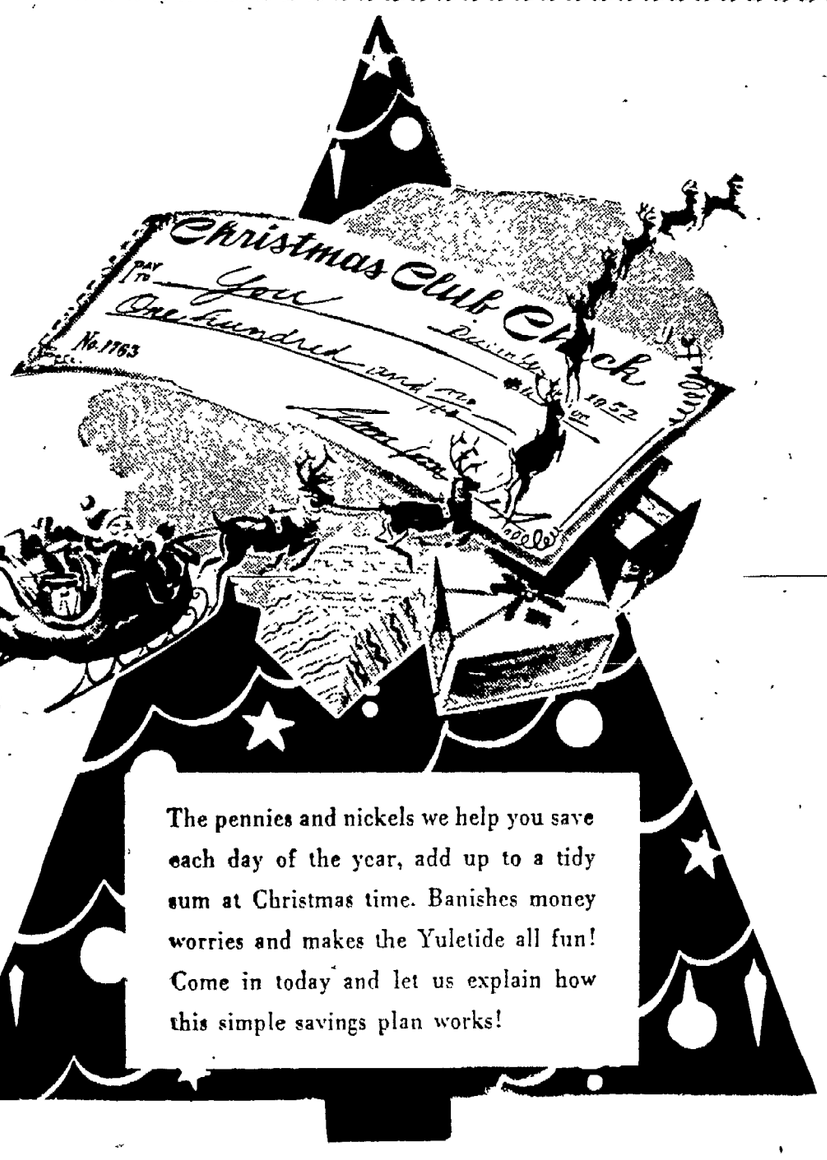

The older members of the family will enjoy a cookie and coffee party. If you're fortunate enough to have a 12-cup coffeemaker with a heat control, it will be easy to have plenty of the good beverage on hand. A coffeemaker such as this has a chrome finish and it's handsome enough to bring to the serving table.

Once you press the cover on, it cannot fall out even when the pot is tilted, and it has a non-tippable base.

Ride at Will

Rubber tired locomotive for young engineers to ride at will. True to life model by Keystone. Suggested by Toy Guidance council.

The pennies and nickels we help you save each day of the year, add up to a tidy sum at Christmas time. Banishes money worries and makes the Yuletide all fun! Come in today and let us explain how this simple savings plan works!

DOLLS, HUMANS WILL RACE FOR BEST DRESSED

Fashionable Figurines Are on the Market This Year

This Christmas will mark an exciting race between dolls and people for the "best dressed" title of the year Ready for Santa's pack are a pretty host of fashion-conscious dolls, coiffed in the latest hair styles, and delightfully dressed in a variety of colorful ensembles inspired by top flight couturier collections.

Most little girls beg Santa for a doll that's "like real" This year Santa will have the most exciting variety of "nearly human" dolls ever assembled as well as the most stylishly attired, the American Toy Institute reports.

New thrills include walking dolls whose legs move naturally when their arms are held—no winding mechanism at all. Some of the talented new walking dolls can also sit just like real little girls and kick their legs as they rock. Some turn their heads and move their eyes as their legs move.

New dolls boast heart beat mechanisms; others drink and burp just like real babies and some talk in foreign languages with the aid of an electronic device.

FOLLOWING THE TREND that dolls must dress as well as act almost exactly like human beings, there's been extra attention devoted this season to style-right doll hairdos, thus encouraging juvenile interest in good grooming.

The poodle cut and the pony braid, for example, have many fashionable exponents in the new doll collections. New synthetic fabrics are utilized to make shampooing, waving, brushing, and doll hair more fun than ever before.

Among the ingenious new thrills is a doll whose hair appears to grow from a short bob to a waist length abundance through a winding mechanism concealed in the doll's head There's a trend toward hair that actually is rooted in the scalp by a method that makes it stand up well under the most vigorous brushing.

Many of the new dolls have vinyl faces that are extraordinarily life like to the touch as well as the eye.

Television characters are well represented in the new doll showings and there's a marked increase in boy dolls which indicates that many parents have responded to the psychologists' advice that little boys benefit from play with dolls just as much as their sisters do.

ANOTHER TREND that shows marked increase is the featuring of miniature dolls packaged in wardrobes filled with a fascinating variety of style-right clothes, underwear, shoes, costume jewelry, pocketbooks and all manner of accessories.

Santa's doll designers have been particularly age conscious this year. Doll styles for Christmas 1952 feature new born babies, year old babies, toddlers, kindergarteners, school age youngsters, teenagers, glamour girls and brides—all with varied wardrobes that follow the very latest high fashions for each age group.

Whether promenading sedately in the park, engaging in sports at the beach or lounging at home, both the school age and teen age dolls are equipped with varied fashions that exactly fit the occasion

Pearl Jewelry Is Favorite

Pearl jewelry is a topmost favorite for Christmas giving, reports the Jewelry Industry council, picturing above in appropriate setting, some of the selections that will thrill any woman. Bracelets shown are single pearls caged in gold wire. The ring is a new large one with pearls of various size in a gold mounting. The necklace is a classic example and the earrings single pearls caged in gold wire.

Bank Account Is a Good Present

Don't overlook the bank with which you do business as a wonderful place in which to shop for a wonderful Christmas gift for a wonderful son or daughter.

The savings account, which you can open for youngsters, has for long been looked upon as an ideal gift that will help teach thrift. No child who gets an allowance is too young for such a gift.

But for the older one, and especially those who are going to college or are earning some money of their own—and even for mother — a truly exciting gift would be a checking account.

Yes, this is possible, by making a nominal deposit in the name of the one for whom you are choosing this unusual and immensely practical gift.

The pass book, with forms that must be signed by the person in whose name the account is opened and a nice new blank book of checks, all wrapped in Christmas paper, can be put under the tree.

The first check can be written out by you to carry Christmas greetings explaining to the delighted receiver, what you have done.

GIVE CLOSET ACCESSORIES

Give her a coordinated set of closet accessories and see how warm her thanks will be. These can be had both in fabrics and plastics, in solid tones, dainty prints or in all-clear plastic so the contents of the bag or box may be identified immediately.

Trays and Appliances Are for Bed Loungers

For the lazy-bones who love breakfast in bed, there are a variety of trays and appliances for happy lounging.

Choose from glass trays that keep food hot, yet will not burn hands or scorch blankets, large trays that hold a complete breakfast as well as the mail and morning paper, trays with a separate unit for keeping coffee warm, and an alarm clock that starts the coffee perking when it goes off.

DAD CAN BE HELPED

If Dad spends most of his day behind a desk, help brighten his working hours with a thoughtful gift for the office. A water carafe with matching tray and glasses is both handsome and practical in glass, metal or plastics, all available in colors to add bright accent to his desk.

SIZES OF MEN PLAY PART IN GIVING CLOTHES

Purchaser Must Learn How Big or Small Is Recipient

When choosing Christmas gifts for the men in your life this year you are going to find it mighty convenient to know pretty accurately what size guys they are.

Their sizes are going to play a more important part in your gift shopping because, more than ever before, the emphasis is on giving things to wear.

If it is dad, husband, or son, you're concerned about, discovering the sizes of the things they need, is easy. Labels will tell the story. If it is your sweetheart, his mother or sister can help.

Of course, to make Christmas complete there will be gifts of gadgets geared to his sports, hobby and business interests, to be bought also. But if you fail to include something to wear, you'll be missing the major opportunity for making this Christmas eminently practical for males who like to see money spent for things that are useful.

The heavy emphasis on giving things to wear this year arises largely from the tremendous growth in the male's realization that his appearance is an important factor in his business as well as his social life. It is ably aided and abetted by designers of men's apparel who are bringing out clothes and furnishings that assure men the proper attire for the right occasion.

While the robe ranks as ever foremost on the Christmas gift giving list, as traditional as is the Christmas tie, and as surely appreciated, the trend toward giving men something to wear goes much further.

Gradually the sports jacket and the leisure coat have become almost equally important gift items for men. Now the suit itself enters the scene with men's wear retailers making ample provisions for women to select them safely without the presence of the recipient.

And a word of advice here to the woman shopper of wearing apparel for men. The Slim Silhouette and the Edwardian Look, which the feminine eye for style will approve heartily, are the new mode.

They mean that fashions are changing for the better and should be considered in making gift choices. The single breasted suit, the three and even four button jacket, are out in front as interpretations of the slim silhouette.

This has had its effect on ties and shirts. The former, considered "musts" for a man at Christmas time because he never buys enough of them himself and always needs more to freshen his wardrobe, are narrower than in the past. Patterns have changed also, to make it much easier for the woman to make a happy choice.

As for shirts, you'll find collars and colors the key. Collars are shorter, some less pointed, some actually rounded. Get him a half dozen whites for business and dress. Or choose a couple of fine sport shirts for leisure wear. Here color and pattern are important, following ties toward trends men favor.

Brilliance With Diamonds

Diamonds put added brilliance into Christmas for the girl who receives her engagement ring on this occasion. Current trend in design as pictured above reflects a revival of the "wire ring" with gold stretched and shaped into swirls. The ring pictured as a brilliant stone surrounded by two smaller ones, and is by Art-carved.

Christmas Ties Have New Style Features

The Christmas tie is a bright and beautiful holiday tradition, and for the petticoat shopper who is willing to flavor her shopping with a spice of adventure, this year's Yuletide cravat can be as big an event to give as to receive.

For the Christmas ties this year have several new style features about them that are really new—new in their shape, their designs, their fabrics and their colorings.

The gift ties have thinned down to a sleek new average of 3½ inches. This new trim, slim look conforms to the general outline of men's newest fashions, which emphasize less padding.

Carry It to a Party

Glitter and gleam for evening wear she'll want to carry to the Christmas night party when she gets it unwrapped, is this example of glamorous handbags for special occasions, which come with matched fittings. Picture is a new Evans carryall in rhodium with rhinestone oval.
